Lie Test For Hoffa Foster Son?

DETROIT (AP) — The search for missing ex-Teamsters leader Jimmy Hoffa continued today with a cloud of suspicion settling over his foster son, Charles L. "Chuckie" O'Brien.

A source close to the investigation said the FBI had requested that O'Brien submit to a lie-detector test to back up his contention that he wasn't involved in Hoffa's July 30 disappearance.

Another source said O'Brien admitted in an FBI interview that he was in the area where Hoffa vanished at about the time he disappeared, and then again the next morning at about the time Hoffa's car was recovered.

Hoffa's daughter said O'Brien, 41, and her father had not seen one another for seven months, and a source close to the investigation said O'Brien had "made peace" with Hoffa's bitter rival, Teamsters President Frank E. Fitzsimmons.

O'Brien, a stocky Teamsters organizer who had been Hoffa's bodyguard for years, declined comment on the investigation, saying authorities had asked him to keep a public silence.

He was in West Memphis, Ark., on Thursday with his bride of two months, and said he is being transferred soon to a new union post in Miami.

His attorney, James Burdick, said Thursday night O'Brien had not been officially informed that federal authorities sought a lie detector test. An FBI spokesman would neither confirm nor deny the report.

Burdick said he had no indication that O'Brien, raised as a son by Hoffa from the age of 3, was considered a target of the FBI investigation.

"There was no question of detention," following Wednesday's FBI interview, said Burdick. "There was nothing like that old 'Now, don't leave town' stuff."

Officials made little public comment on the progress of their investigation or the direction it is taking.

Privately, several investigators said they are going on the suspicion that Hoffa was kidnapped or killed to prevent his expected attempt to recapture the union presidency from Fitzsimmons.

Fitzsimmons was Hoffa's chief lieutenant when Hoffa began to serve a 13-year federal prison term for jury tampering and mail fraud. Hoffa gave up his union post to Fitzsimmons several years after he started to serve time, and then was granted conditional clemency.

Under the controversial clemency order, Hoffa cannot participate in union activities until 1980. He has been fighting to overturn the restriction in federal court, and a decision is pending.

Federal officials discouraged speculation about widespread reports that Hoffa had come up with $1 million just before he vanished.

According to one account, Hoffa withdrew $1 million or $1.2 million from a union pension fund, but Hoffa's son, James P. Hoffa, denied it.

Ohio Senate OKs Energy Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A major energy bill approved by the Senate Thursday should pass the House Monday and be on the desk of Gov. James A. Rhodes sometime next week, House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, says.

The speaker said he thinks the bill the Senate approved 28-1 is "practically the same" in its major thrust as one passed by the House Aug. 1. He added: "I think the Senate did a good job."

The House meets Monday afternoon, with the Senate in recess, to consider the compromise bill.

Senators became eloquent during their one-day session Thursday to act on the bill which emerged from a three-member subcommittee of two Democrats and one Republican.

"This shows what the art of compromise can do," said Senate Minority Leader Michael J. Maloney, R-7 Cincinnati, in urging its approval.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, hailed it as a "comprehensive, workable energy program for the people of Ohio" and an improvement over the measure sent over from the House.

Senate-House maneuvering over a packet of energy proposals, some of which have been pending for months, delayed a legislative vacation that was to start Aug. 1. But Meshel said, and others agreed that "it was time well spent."

The main thrust of the bill, as was the case in the House version, is the creation of an Ohio Energy Resources and Development Agency.

Its five voting members would be named by the governor, but four legislators—two from each party—would sit as ex-officio members. The makeup of the board had been a point of controversy for several months, Rhodes having vetoed an earlier bill that would have given voting authority to the lawmaker-members.

Otherwise, the immediately effective emergency measure would enable the agency (ERDA) to move immediately to back loans for gas

Highway Patrolman Given ACE Award In Special Ceremonies

LOCAL ACE—Dennis Zwayer of the Circleville Ohio State Highway Patrol post and Col. Frank R. Blackstone, superintendent of the patrol, place the ACE award on his patrol car. The award was made for his fifth recovery of stolen cars.

By SUE BOYER
Herald Staff Writer

Ohio State Highway Patrolman Dennis E. Zwayer of the local post made his fifth stolen vehicle recovery with on-the-spot apprehensions of the year Wednesday.

He received the division's ACE award for auto larceny enforcement in ceremonies held at Post 65 Thursday afternoon. Col. Frank R. Blackstone, superintendent, presented Ptl. Zwayer with special ACE license plates for his patrol car, a certificate for his achievement and a uniform ribbon.

The 22-year-old patrolman joined the force on Feb. 7 and made his first recovery and apprehension on Feb. 25. He recovered his second stolen car in March, two in April and the fifth in August.

The last recovered car was registered in the state of West Virginia but the other four displayed Ohio license plates.

A Circleville native, Ptl. Zwayer graduated from Circleville High School and served in the Army National Guard. He and his wife, Daylene, reside presently in Ashville.

Col. Blackstone explained during the recognition ceremonies that all of the five stolen car recoveries needed to qualify for the ACE award must result in the apprehension of the driver as well as recovery of the auto. He stated that the Patrol has issued 550 lightning bolts so far this year to officers making apprehensions. These bolts represent three and a half million dollars worth of recovered cars.

At the end of 1974, 39 officers across the state had become ACE's. Ptl. Zwayer makes no. 12 for this year but Blackstone said there were ten officers with four apprehensions to their credit so far. He also said that apprehensions this year are up 25 per cent over last year's figures at this time.

The goal of the Patrol for 1975 is to have at least 1,000 apprehensions and 50 ACE's. Blackstone stated that the reasoning behind the Patrol's ACE program was to make it unsafe to steal a car in the state of Ohio.

Since the inception of the program in 1971, the Patrol records a 20 per cent reduction in stolen vehicles in the state.

The program honors any officer who makes five apprehensions from January to December of any given year. The officer who has the greatest number of apprehensions during the year is given the Blue Max award and is given a Blue Max patrol car which is his to use exclusively.

Ptl. Zwayer served three months with on-the-job coaching under the direction of veteran Patrolman Ron Lewis. He made four of his stolen car apprehensions during those three months.

He explained that an officer looks for many things in seeking out drivers of stolen cars. One of the things he looks for is whether the driver "goes with the car." He also said such a driver acts suspicious on the highway.

Each month, Highway Patrol officers check over 200,000 autos through the Patrol's own Auto Alert File. There are also other agencies through which a suspicious car is checked.

Ptl. Zwayer is the first ACE to be named from the local post. Post 65 commander D. S. Kohn took part in the recognition ceremonies and said later that he was very proud of young Zwayer.

Nationwide Hikes Auto Premiums

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. announced Thursday it will increase its auto insurance rates Oct. 1 to meet what it called rising costs of claims settlements.

Nationwide, the largest auto insurer in Ohio, said the increase for full coverage on an auto will be 8.7 per cent, or $12.54 annually.

Individual rates will vary from the figure depending on where the policyholder lives, type of car, age and other factors, the firm said.

Robert W. Griffith, Nationwide vice president, said there have been sharp increases in claims costs due partly to inflation.

Increases in replacement parts and repair costs have been "quite dramatic" in the past year, he said. Nationwide last raised its auto rates in 1970 and has reduced them four times, he said.

"Actually, for cars and coverage limits comparable to those of five years ago, the new rates will be lower than the rates in effect at the end of 1970," he said.

Nationwide said costs of the average collision claim jumped from $360 to $400 in the past year while the average property damage liability claim went from $304 to $335.

House, Senate Delegations Travel Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the name of detente and at the taxpayers' expense, several House and Senate delegations are traveling abroad during the August recess.

The range of trips being taken by members this month include swings into France, the Soviet Union, Romania, England, Germany, Saipan, Cuba, the People's Republic of China, Italy and Switzerland.

Congressional critics call these foreign trips "junkets" because most expenses are paid by the congressional committees which arranged them. Defenders of the trips say members will gain knowledge about the nations being visited.

The delegations usually receive red-carpet treatment from foreign leaders who hope to woo them into looking at their country favorably.

It's the usual practice for spouses to go along, but members must pay for their spouses' expenses. Congressional funds, however, pay for committee counsels or other official aides in the party.

After returning home, they will write newsletters and hold news conferences to tell things they learned about the foreign bond, military hardware, waterways, banks, food supplies and what those other nations think of Americans.

One of the most ambitious trips is the current visit by 19 House members to the Soviet Union, Romania and Yugoslavia. Headed by Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., the members are meeting with government leaders and visiting industrial and agricultural sites.

"In the wake of the Appollo-Soyuz space mission and the Helsinki Treaty we have a unique opportunity to contribute to the easing of tensions and the goal of world peace which we all share," said traveler Robert H. Michel, R-Ill.

Michel also said he intends to gain insights into U.S. grain sales to the Soviets — "We want hard dollars and good prices for our products and I hope on my return to be satisfied that will be the case."

Besides Albert and Michel, others in the group include Armed Services Committee Chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill., Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., Edward P. Boland, D-Mass., Phil M. Landrum, D-Ga., John Brademas, D-Ind., Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio, James H. Quillen, R-Tenn., Phillip Burton D-Calif., William J. Green, D-Pa., Sidney Yates, D-Ill., Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., Agriculture Committee Chairman Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., Tom Be-ville, D-Ala., Marvin L. Esch, R-Mich., Bill Archer, R-Tex., George E. Danielson, D-Calif., and Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J.

In other trips, Reps. William C. Wampler, R-Va., ranking minority member on agriculture, and W. R. Poage, D-Tex., chairman of the livestock and grains subcommittee, are planning a two-week excursion to Moscow, Leningrad, eastern Russia and Mongolia to study agriculture conditions. They will be accompanied by two staff aides.

House Armed Services member William L. Dickinson, R-Ala., and two committee aides are on a week-long inspection of Cuba, the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay and military installations in the Panama Canal Zone.

Another Armed Services delegation will go to Saipan and Tinian to inspect properties that would be leased to the United States for defense under the covenant approved by the House establishing the Northern Marianas as a U.S. commonwealth. That group consist of Reps. Charles H. Wilson, D-Calif., and Mendel J. Davis, D-S.C., and Del. Antonio B. Won Pat, D-Guam, all members of the military installations and facilities subcommittee.

The People's Republic of China is being visited for two weeks by a joint Senate-House group: SQENS. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., and Reps. Margaret M. Heckler, R-Mass., Paul Findley, R-Ill., and Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-Calif.

Merchant Marine and Fisheries Chairwoman Leonor Sullivan, D-Mo., and the panel's chief counsel are on a two-week trip to Germany and London to study waterways and harbor traffic systems.

On the Science and Technology Committee, Rep. Louis Frey Jr., R-Fla., is visiting space facilities in Paris and the European Center for Nuclear Research near Geneva.

Rep. John Jarman, R-Okla., is the appointed member of the interparliamentary union group holding a conference in London. He also will be stopping in Copenhagen, Oslo, Stockholm and Dublin.

Guam, Manila, Australia and New Zealand are on the itinerary of Joshua Eilberg, D-Pa., chairman of judiciary's immigration, citizenship and international law subcommittee. Others on the two-week trip include Reps. Herman Badillo, D-N.Y., and Thomas F. Railsback, R-Ill. They are looking into programs dealing with refugees.

Chairman Fernand J. St. Germain, D-R. I., and members of the subcommittee on financial institutions supervision, regulation and insurance, are on a two-week trip to meet with officials of banks in England, France, Germany, Switzerland and Italy.

They are gathering information on international banking for pending legislation on foreign bank operations in the United States.

St. Germain said this is his first overseas trip during his 15 years in Congress. Identities of those with St. Germain were not available from either the Banking subcommittee or St. Germain's office.

One of the most unusual trips — paid for by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration — was taken by scuba diver Rep. William Alexander, D-Ark., of the Appropriations Committee and Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., of the Commerce Committee's oceanographic panel.

They spent three days in an underwater research laboratory in the Atlantic off Freeport in the Bahamas. Weicker said afterwards that Congress needs to set a higher priority for ocean research.

NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes for a slackening in upward pressure on interest rates helped set off a moderate rally in the stock market today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.24 at 821.03, and gainers took a 5-4 lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange after trailing in the early going.

Brokers credited the advance to hopes that a leveling off in the nation's money supply during August as shown in Federal Reserve figures issued late Thursday would allow the Fed to stop taking steps to make credit tighter.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was unchanged at 86.34.

Trading was relatively light. The market hesitated at the outset after New York's First National City Bank announced another increase in its prime lending rate, from 7½ to 7¾ per cent.

County Board Approves New Curriculum Guides

The county board of education at its monthly meeting approved new curriculum guides for use in the county schools in home economics, industrial arts and special education. The guides have been prepared by county office supervisors and representatives from each of the local districts. They will now be sent to the State Department of Education for approval and if accepted, will be filed by the State Department and authorized for use until new revisions are made in the future.

The board was informed by Superintendent Edward Martin that the Martha Holden Jennings Foundation had awarded the board $891.00 to provide in-service training for librarians and librarian aides employed in the county schools. There will be eight sessions scheduled throughout the year and the money will be used to employ experts in the various areas of media center operation to conduct training sessions. Mrs. Marjorie Evans, primary supervisor, will be in charge of organizing the session and securing resource personnel.

After much discussion, the board moved not to require non-certificated employees in the county office to work on Martin Luther King Day on Jan. 17, 1976. Professional employees will be required to work as scheduled. The holiday was mandated by the legislature.

Superintendent Martin reported to the board that all personnel vacancies in the local school districts except four or five positions were filled and applicants are available to fill them.

The superintendent apprised the board of the implications of Senate Bill 170, the school foundation bill as it relates to the county office and local school districts. The bill recently enacted by the legislature is now waiting for the governor's signature. With the loss of guarantees and two supplemental appropriations during the 1974-75 year, all three county schools will receive less money from the state with which to operate than they received for 1974-75. However, many of the negative provisions of the original bill, as it left the Senate, were eliminated in the final draft as it passed both houses of the legislature.

The superintendent, who is the legislative chairman for the Ohio County Superintendents Association and a member of the Buckeye Association of School Administrators Legislative Committee, has worked closely with legislators in securing favorable legislation for the county school system was high in his praise for the efforts made by Representative Myrl Shoemaker, Chairman of the House Finance Committee which hammered out the final version of the bill, Speaker of the House of Representatives Vernal G. Riffe and State Senator Oakley C. Collins. It was largely through their efforts that rural schools throughout the state were given fair treatment in the final version of the bill.

The board approved Superintendent Martin's attendance to the National Conference on Rural-Region Education Programs in San Antonio, Texas on Oct. 19-22.

Board members present were Wendell Evans, Bonnie Hildenbrand, John Little and Nelson Jones.

131 Survive Crash Of Jet At Denver

DENVER (AP) — "It was like trying to get out of a sardine can," said one of the passengers after a Continental Airlines 727 jetliner plummeted from an altitude of 100 feet on takeoff and skidded across a grassy field. All 131 persons aboard survived the belly-down crash.

Hospitals reported that 38 persons were treated, 15 were admitted.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) said it would be premature to speculate on the cause of Thursday's crash. But he added that wind turbulence had been reported in the area.

Passengers and airport officials said an engine burned briefly, apparently before the crash, but there were no

Cucumbers Said Rotting In Fields

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Thousands of dollars worth of cucumbers are expected to rot in northwest Ohio farmlands because an early planting season enabled buyers to fill demand earlier than expected.

"We have fulfilled all our contracts and will need no more," said Charles Gonya, a member of a family-operated Sandusky County processing firm.

Gonya said the firm began accepting cucumbers for processing June 30 instead of mid-July as normal. He said many farmers overplanted and there is no place for the surplus to go.

The H. J. Heinz Co. plant at Fremont took its last delivery of hand-picked cucumbers Saturday. It will still accept some machine-picked cucumbers but they represent a small portion of total shipments, the firm said.

One Sandusky County farmer estimated that unharvested cucumbers in his field were worth $10,000.

Gonya said the situation could be a good one for persons wanting to freeze cucumbers. "But they'll have to go to the farms to pick them," he said.

Body Sought In National Park

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Divers were scheduled to probe the depths of Lewis Lake today in an effort to find the body of an Ohio man missing since Wednesday when his boat apparently was struck by lightning.

Brenton M. Kirk, 21, of New Philadelphia, Ohio, was in a 17-foot aluminum canoe on the lake with his brother Philip, 18, park officials said.

A witness on the shore of the lake told authorities he was watching the two men through binoculars and saw lightning strike the boat, overturning it. Philip Kirk was released from a local hospital after a checkup but the body of Brenton Kirk was not found.

Butz Blasted By Union Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, an earthy Indianan who has been known to use words stronger than gold-durn, heard some salty, sea-blue language the other day that few farm boys pick up behind the barn.

According to associates, Butz's meeting early Wednesday with Maritime Union leaders was perforated for an hour with X-rated expletives rarely heard in the decorous halls of the Agriculture Department.

The meeting involved Thomas W. Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association; Paul A. Hall of the Seafarers Association; and Jessie Calhoun of the Marine Engineers Benevolent Association.

Butz, who sometimes tells shady stories and ethnic jokes, was reportedly outclassed by the union leaders' epithets and vivid descriptions of what he could do if their demands were not met.

The maritime leaders are upset over recent sales of U.S. grain to Russia and prospects that more may be sold. Supported by AFL-CIO president George Meany, they threaten to block ocean shipments of the grain unless the Ford administration can guarantee that the sales will not hurt American consumers.

In the unions' view, Butz is a prime culprit in all this because of his unrelenting push for larger farm exports, which he says help everyone since they offset much of what Americans import including Middle East oil.

Malaga Resigns As Lottery Chief

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Robert S. Malaga resigned today as executive director of the Ohio Lottery after the Ohio Lottery Commission rebuffed his efforts to oust Deputy Director James Dickerson and two other lottery employees.

Malaga said he plans to return to his law practice and concentrate on his tennis interests.

Commission Chairman David Leahy said he was saddened by the news and added that there was "no victory" for anyone in the resignation of Malaga, who was Gov. James A. Rhodes' appointee. Rhodes had attacked the commission in the wake of news reports of questionable lottery operations and called for resignation of the commissioners.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. Saturday.

Plantnappers Keep Busy

WASHINGTON (AP) — For some folks, the hardest thing about keeping plants in Washington is keeping the plants.

"People get these nice plants and these nice vases and they set them out on the porch and someone finds them attractive," says Police Lt. Arif Mosrie.

The police department doesn't keep a list of purloined plants but the department has noticed a growing number of such reports.

Terese Terry was one of the latest victims. Thieves made off with a 5-foot palm tree, a schefflera and assorted tropical plants from her front porch. She had put them out to bask in the sun.

"This was their first outing," she said. "Now I have everything chained to my porch so it won't happen again."

WASHINGTON (AP)—A year after President Ford took office and expressed hopes for a good marriage with Congress, the record of vetoes, override attempts and flat disagreements looks like a clear case of incompatibility.

Yet Ford's personal popularity with his former congressional colleagues, by all appearances, has held up remarkably well. This is especially true among House members—Democrats as well as Republicans—who were undisgustedly happy to see one of their number make it to the White House, even by the somber path that events charted for Ford.

There are some Democrats who argue that the relations between Ford and Congress cannot accurately be called confrontation. Of course, this line could be strategic as the Democratic leaders of Congress try to persuade Ford not to veto the extension of oil price controls. Approval of the six-month extension would give more time for the tortuous process of working out a compromise energy policy.

Majority Whip John J. McFall, D-Calif., for one, contends that what is

Ford, Congress At Loggerheads

WASHINGTON (AP) — A year after President Ford took office and expressed hopes for a good marriage with Congress, the record of vetoes, override attempts and flat disagreements looks like a clear case of incompatibility.

Yet Ford's personal popularity with his former congressional colleagues, by all appearances, has held up remarkably well. This is especially true among House members—Democrats as well as Republicans—who were undisguisedly happy to see one of their number make it to the White House, even by the somber path that events charted for Ford.

There are some Democrats who argue that the relations between Ford and Congress cannot accurately be called confrontation. Of course, this line could be strategic as the Democratic leaders of Congress try to persuade Ford not to veto the extension of oil price controls. Approval of the six-month extension would give more time for the tortuous process of working out a compromise energy policy.

Majority Whip John J. McFall, D-Calif., for one, contends that what is going on is executive-legislative bargaining carried to the ultimate with vetoes, efforts — usually unsuccessful — to override and then more compromise attempts.

As for personal relations at Ford's frequent get-togethers with members of Congress, McFall grinned and asked, "How could I not be civil with Jerry Ford?"

A Republican assessment, from Rep. Silvio O. Conte of Massachusetts, is that the Ford-Congress personal reunions are "very cordial, very warm." That goes for Democrats, "but not to the extent of giving him a vote," Conte said.

There are occasional dissents, complaints that Ford, like others before him, is becoming inaccessible.

A Democratic subcommittee chairman said he was concerned about a situation under his jurisdiction that he thought required immediate attention, so he wrote asking for an opportunity to discuss it with the President.

"I got back a flunky letter saying it was under consideration," he said.

Ford has unsparingly used the huge publicity opportunities of the presidency to berate the Democratic-controlled Congress for what he says is a failure to come to grips with the energy crisis and recklessly refusing to hold spending to a level that could abate inflation.

His nationally televised speech in which he ripped off calendar pages to illustrate his charge of foot-dragging still ranks some Democrats.

Majority Leader Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill, D-Mass., who from time to time plays golf with Ford, began weeks ago making a daily brief speech at the beginning of the House session denouncing the administration and not sparing the President.

In one of his latest blasts before Congress recessed, O'Neill said: "You name it. He's vetoed it ... It's hard to think of any group of Americans who haven't been hurt by President Ford's vetoes ...

"He's a good friend, but he's been a disaster for the country."

But a Republican who has attended some of Ford's informal sessions with his old colleagues told a reporter, "You ought to see Tip when he's with the President. It's good old Jerry, hugs, gifts...Then he gets on the floor the next day and kicks the ... out of him."

Public slam-banging of the opposition without disturbing personal friendships is an old story to the political professionals in Congress.

Ford, ascending to the presidency at a time of national shock, rode in on a wave of good will on the part of the public and especially of his old congressional associates. All say he is affable, friendly and decent, with a personality wholly different from that of his predecessor.

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — In case you didn't know that the composer of the southern rallying song, "Dixie," was born in Mount Vernon, the city plans to remind you this weekend.

"Dixie Days" are being held in the downtown area through Saturday, featuring historical displays of the era of composer Daniel Decatur Emmett.

August Fair Month Over Buckeye State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — August is the months for fairs, and the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency urges that carpools or mass transit be used if possible.

It also noted that large amounts of trash and solid waste are generated at fairs and asked Ohioans to take extra steps to put trash in receptacles.

Mutual Troop Reductions

The U.S. will soon find out if detente will extend to troop cuts in Europe, as talks open next month in Vienna on a military trade-off.

Western diplomats are expected to offer to cut down on the size of the U.S. atomic stockpile in Europe if Russia will pull some 68,000 troops back to their homeland.

We hope the two-year deadlock will be broken, but urge caution. Even with the removal of those troops, the Warsaw Pact nations will still retain a noticeable superiority over Western European forces.

Some 1,000 atomic warheads would be removed from Europe, leaving some 6,000 in place. This would appear to be an adequate number to stave off disaster in a frontal attack against the West.

There are, however, a few jokers in the deck. The main one is this: If Russia and her satellites decide to launch an attack against Western Europe, which will involve the U.S.; there is little chance a worldwide nuclear exchange could be averted.

History shows that any nation facing defeat will use any weapon at hand. It is highly unlikely that the U.S. would stop short of all-out attack to avoid disaster.

It is also unlikely that Russia would launch such an attack without the full intention of doing anything necessary for victory.

In addition, such a pullback by Russia would mean a few hundred miles at most, while any U.S. assistance would have to be sent thousands of miles.

The game is worth the candle, however, if by such a trade-off, more room is opened for true progress in averting a wider war.

I have heard that there are some types of eggs that are especially low in cholesterol. For an egg lover, this intrigues me. Is this fact or fiction?

Mr. J. K., Ind.

Dear Mr. K.:

The Department of Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association seems to be intrigued by this possibility.

Dr. Herman Dillon, of the AMA, has some interesting things to say about eggs, their color and their cholesterol content.

He said that eggs with dark shells are slightly higher in cholesterol than white shell eggs. This apparently was reported by the Iowa State College.

Contrary to the belief of some, hens that have been fed diets containing polyunsaturated vegetable oils have produced eggs whose cholesterol and saturated fat content are almost exactly the same as average eggs.

Special claims have been made that eggs produced by the South American Araucana chicken are particularly low in cholesterol. These claims have not been thoroughly substantiated.

Until there is absolute proof, people who have a cholesterol problem should still stay away from a high-egg diet.

Under what circumstances is it necessary to feed a patient through the veins?

Miss S. S., S.D.

Dear Miss S.:

Intravenous feeding is used when a patient is unable to take fluid by mouth. Frequently, after surgery, before a patient has completely reacted from anesthesia, fluid loss is replaced in this way.

It is also used when there are specific reasons why swallowing fluid or food is not advisable. Patients with nausea and vomiting must be nourished in this manner.

It is possible, through the intravenous tube, to supply special nourishment with sugar and concentrated vitamins and minerals.

The fact that a patient is being

Today, the idea of detente has come to mean that we give, but get nothing in return. Communist Russia has been one of the major buyers of American grain, but I don't see we are getting anything in return. They don't even pay for it. We just give it to them.

How can we, as a defender of freedom, give supplies to our greatest enemy? How can we feed a country who suppressed and conquered half of Europe?

America must realize that we are at war with communism, whether we like it or not. J. Edgar Hoover once said that the fight was "economic, political, physiological, social, but, above all, spiritual." Communism is not a political force, but a satanic force that destroys everything in its path.

Russia gleefully looks at America because we are dying — dying of social and moral decay, just as Lenin said it would. America will not be taken from without but will fall from within.

Disabled Vets Get More Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disabled veterans will receive cost-of-living increases ranging from 10 to 12 per cent, despite White House fears that the raises are too high.

President Ford signed the measure Wednesday and warned Congress the increase, which more than doubles amounts asked in his budget proposal, will cost half a billion dollars a year.

"I must, therefore, remind the Congress that we simply cannot continue adding to federal deficit spending without facing a day of reckoning," Ford said.

Ford, who had asked for 5 per cent increases for the 2.2 million veterans covered by the law, urged Congress to hold its future spending to the limits he set in his budget and "to find sufficient savings in other programs" to make up for the added spending on veterans.

Under the new law, which makes the increases retroactive to Aug. 1, veterans with service-connected disabilities will get varying payments according to the rating of the disability and to anatomical loss.

The minimum pay for veterans will be raised from $32 to $35 monthly. The maximum increases from $1,454 to $1,628.

The law also includes increases of 12 per cent for widows of men who die of service-related causes. These rates vary according to the rank of the veteran at the time of death or discharge.

State Jobless Claims Jump For Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — First-time unemployment compensation claims to the state were almost three times the number at the beginning of this month as the same period last year, the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services said today.

For the week ending Aug. 2, 31,771 persons made initial application for insurance, up 8,427 from the previous week.

Preliminary estimates for the same week for continuing unemployment compensation showed 195,500 persons receiving benefits, compared to 19 the week before and 199,631 on July 12 when the number of recipients rose for the first time in 10 weeks.

In August 1974, 62,503 persons received continuing unemployment. In the state's eight largest counties, initial unemployment claims rose by almost 6,000 to 15,935 from the previous week with almost a 2,000 person increase each in Cuyahoga, Franklin and Montgomery counties.

Initial and continuing claims under the extended state and federal unemployment compensation program also advanced. Benefits to first-time applicants rose from 5,862 on July 26 to 6,170 on Aug. 2 and continuing claims rose by 4,000 recipients to 48,340 for the week ending Aug. 2.

The Silent Service

By JIM BISHOP

Sometimes when I read a good book my mind leaves the page and drifts down a parallel line. This happened last night as I was reading "Silent Victory," by Clay Blair, Jr. Mr. Blair has written the definitive history of the U.S. Submarine Service.

In spite of the compelling stories he tells, I harked back to the time in World War II when I asked the Navy for an article on submarines. Admiral Ernest King, who was both earnest and king, told me to see Vice Admiral Edwards and Vice Admiral Ben Morrell.

Captain Walter Karig, a writer of children's stories, who was head of Navy Public Information, told me how to make an impression on Edwards and Morrell.

"Tell Edwards that the Air Force, the Army—everybody is taking bows in this war except the Silent Service."

Tell him you want stories with names and dates. Your idea is to give some credit for all the Japanese shipping that those crews are sinking.

"When you come to Admiral Morrell, merely ask him to tell you the story of how he managed to get a big naval gun up a mountain in the Azores. The old bastard loves to tell it."

I should have remembered that Captain Karig was not a seagoing sailor. He could get sick watching an olive navigate the diameter of a martini glass.

Both admirals turned out to be anti-smile. My jolly remarks brought frowns. They heard me out. Then Edwards growled, "You do know there's a war on?" I admitted that I had heard the rumor. "The one and only time I allowed an article on a submarine patrol," he said, "the writer stressed the fact that Japanese destroyers weren't able to sink our submarines."

"Know what happened? The Japanese Navy doubled the size of their depth charges from 300 pounds to 600." He opened some desk drawers. "These are books and magazine articles already written about American submarines. They won't see daylight as long as there is a war. Any questions?"

I was losing my fight with the admirals, so I turned to Admiral Morrell. "Sir," I said, "I understand there's a good story in the way you got a naval gun up an island mountain."

Ever see an admiral blush with rage? I did. Morrell demanded to know who told me about the naval gun. Edwards chuckled. He knew the story. "Hell, Ben," he said. "That's a World War I yarn. You can tell him."

Ben shrugged. "I don't want it printed," he said. "I'm not proud of it. I was fresh out of the Naval Academy in 1917 and I was ordered to serve aboard a heavy cruiser. We stood out from Norfolk and headed for the Azores."

"Admiral Sims had a notion that the Germans might use those islands as a refueling base for U-boats. When we dropped our hook, I was ordered to take an 8-inch rifle up a steep hill where it would guard the approaches to the harbor."

"Well, as you know, the Navy can order you to do something, but it seldom tells you how. We barged that big gun to shore. The question was—how to get it up the hill."

"There were no block and falls; no machinery; no trucks. The only thing on that damn island were some mangy bulls. So I requisitioned a herd of them. Of course I didn't know that all the senior officers on the cruiser had binoculars on me and were laughing their heads off."

"I paid the natives to make some rope harness and tie those beasts to the gun. When everything was ready, they wouldn't move. I had a switch. All they did was blink at me."

"Two days were spent feeding and watering and begging. Nothing happened. Then a Spaniard who spoke lousy English said, 'I fix. I fix.' I was about ready to give up."

"That man disappeared. An hour later he came back with a cow. Somehow he knew that she was in the mood for love. So did those bulls. The Spaniard waved the female in front of those blinking b's and they took off."

"I mean took off. They started to run; the Spaniard ran. The female ran. They hauled that big naval gun up the mountains chasing that dame. They damn near pulled the gun off a cliff."

"That story was told all over the Navy in World War I. If I hear it in this war, Mr. B., I'll know you're the snitch."

So I didn't tell it. And you didn't read it. I didn't get a submarine story. Clay Blair did...

Co-Ops Provide More Farm Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new analysis by the Agriculture Department shows that federal land bank associations owned cooperatively by borrowers are providing a larger share of financing for purchases of farm real estate.

In 1969 only 13 per cent of the farm real estate lending was by the federal land banks while life insurance companies provided 19 per cent of the mortgage capital. Last year land banks accounted for 33 per cent and insurance companies 7 per cent.

Traditionally, the largest portion of farm real estate financing has been handled by the sellers themselves, including 49 per cent of the mortgage money in 1969 and 43 per cent last year. Commercial banks and other lenders make up the remainder.

A Page Of Opinion

Mutual Troop Reductions

The U.S. will soon find out if detente will extend to troop cuts in Europe, as talks open next month in Vienna on a military trade-off.

Western diplomats are expected to offer to cut down on the size of the U.S. atomic stockpile in Europe if Russia will pull some 68,000 troops back to their homeland.

We hope the two-year deadlock will be broken, but urge caution. Even with the removal of those troops, the Warsaw Pact nations will still retain a noticeable superiority over Western European forces.

Some 1,000 atomic warheads would be removed from Europe, leaving some 6,000 in place. This would appear to be an adequate number to stave off disaster in a frontal attack against the West.

There are, however, a few jokers in the deck. The main one is this: If Russia and her satellites decide to launch an attack against Western Europe, which will involve the U.S.; there is little chance a worldwide nuclear exchange could be averted.

History shows that any nation facing defeat will use any weapon at hand. It is highly unlikely that the U.S. would stop short of all-out attack to avoid disaster.

It is also unlikely that Russia would launch such an attack without the full intention of doing anything necessary for victory.

In addition, such a pullback by Russia would mean a few hundred miles at most, while any U.S. assistance would have to be sent thousands of miles.

The game is worth the candle, however, if by such a trade-off, more room is opened for true progress in averting a wider war.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumers increased their borrowing in June by the biggest figure in nine months, and now businessmen and economists are trying to understand why.

The $545-million jump brought the total of consumer credit to $186.1 billion, $2.67 billion higher than a year earlier. More significantly, the latest increase was the second in a row after five straight months of decline.

Understandably, the Ford administration would like to say the borrowings indicate widespread belief that it is now safe to take a chance, safe to use tomorrow's money to buy today's goods and services.

Those who adhere to that interpretation believe the economy is steadily recovering from recession and that the recovery will be a solid one, that is, without a return of destructive inflation.

Many others wonder, however, if the consumer isn't a bit more sophisticated in his adjustment to the economic society. While it is still too early to determine, they ask if something more complex isn't occurring.

The basic questions they ask are these: Is the consumer borrowing now not because he has confidence in the future but because of precisely the opposite reason? Is he borrowing now in order to buy before prices rise any more?

This is the old "flight from currency" phenomenon that Prof. George Katona, the pioneer consumer attitude scholar, describes in his new book, "Psychological Economics."

Katona explains that the expectation of a slow and gradual price increase creates uncertainty and loss of confidence and therefore reduces discretionary demand. Consumers in this situation might save rather than spend.

But an entirely different mood prevails when consumers expect shortages or sharp price increases. Under such situation they might feel it is wiser to exchange their money for commodities while they can.

"In August, 1973," Katona writes, "close to 20 per cent of all survey respondents reported that during the preceding few months they had made some major purchase in order to beat inflation."

And he added that "fear of future inflation outweighed the resentment of past price increases."

Are consumers now expressing fear rather than confidence? It cannot be said with certainty at this time, but there are some indications fear is playing some role.

—Based on announcements already made, new model automobiles will cost more in September.

—Gasoline and other oil products prices will be rising.

—Wholesale prices are expected to be higher in the immediate future. Despite declining orders, some industries feel compelled to raise prices in order to cover their costs.

—Farm prices are rising. In the latest report, for the month ended July 15, they were up 3 per cent.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren
Go For Second Round

DEAR ABBY: George and I have been married for 32 years, and with so many of his friends dropping dead of heart attacks and my friends dying of cancer, we started talking about what we would do if the other one were to die.

I told George that if he were to die, I'd never marry again, and he said I obviously didn't have a very high opinion of our marriage.

Then George told me that if I were to die, he would definitely marry again, which proved that he thought more of our marriage than I did.

I asked him if he had anybody in mind, and he named a woman whose husband is still living. I asked him what about her husband, and he said, "Well, if YOU can die, HE can die too, so I'm just assuming you were both dead."

One word led to another, and now we aren't speaking.

Abby, is it true that people who think highly of their marriage will marry again if a spouse dies, and who don't, will not?

If that's true, I'll apologize.

GLADYS
DEAR GLADYS: Apologize.
DEAR ABBY: To begin with, from August through December of last year, I had a running battle with the credit department of a large, well-known, high-class, New York based department store. They claimed I owed them $100.

After much correspondence, they finally admitted that due to a computer error, instead of MY owing them $100, THEY owed me .10!

For the last six months, they have been sending me a monthly notice that I have a credit of .10.

Abby, so far, it has cost them .60 in postage to call my attention to a .10 credit. Don't you agree that this is absurd?

It's no wonder the state of New York is broke. Those know-it-all easterners think they are so smart that nobody can tell them a thing.

Please print your comments on this ridiculous situation, and I will gladly spend a dime to mail it to them.

HAD IT IN L.A.
DEAR HAD IT: I agree, it's foolish to spend .10 a month after month to inform a customer of a .10 credit. But why indict a whole state for the non-sensical business practice of one company?

DEAR ABBY: A woman complained that her husband deserted her and their children, and when she tried to locate him through the Social Security office, they told her he was alive, but they refused to disclose his whereabouts. (You said, "Even burns have rights.")

No more! Beginning July 1st, a new law has gone into effect that permits wives to have access to federal data (I.R.S., Social Security, Civil Service, Defense Dept., etc.) to locate deserting ex-spouses who have failed to pay alimony and or child support.

Designed primarily to keep mothers off welfare, the law can be used to locate even middle-class or upper-class nonsupporters.

It would be helpful if you published the following address of the Parent Locator Service because so few attorneys, and even fewer mothers whose husbands have deserted them, know of its existence:

Sincerely,
S.M.S.: Pamona Attorney

DEAR MRS.: Thank you for the extremely helpful information. Thousands of deserted wives will bless you tonight. And an equal number of runaway spouses who have been successfully hiding out will curse you.

St. Jacob's Lutheran Church is observing its golden anniversary. On July 16, 1925, an estimated audience of 1000 persons attended the dedication service at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson have purchased the home place, the Minnie A. Kerns farm. Carl and Dorothy have spent their entire married life (38 years) on the farm, and Dorothy has lived there for a total of 57 years. We wish them a long and happy future on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Turvey and Rita and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Turvey, Scott and Denise have returned from a two week vacation in L'ance, Mich.

Mrs. David Singleton, Mrs. Lenna Turvey and Benny Lee Griffith attended the Francis Reunion at Ted Lewis Park on Sunday.

Lucia Spangler and Ruth Hunt attended the Reds-Giants ballgame in Cincinnati on Thursday evening.

Mrs. David Singleton and Mrs. Lenna Turvey attended the wedding of Sandra Lemaster and John McFerren at Circleville on Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ward, Circleville, visited Sunday with Mrs. Lenna Turvey.

It was interesting to see that sidewalk sales were being held in Paris, Ky. and Hillsboro, on last Thursday.

In his most recent call home, Jerry Spangler and his Handi-Clean crew were in Carlisle, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. James Arledge, Dayton, were Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. David Singleton.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fox and son Patrick of Florida, visited several days with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Van Fossen.

Mrs. Bev Franks and family of Carey spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murray and family, and all enjoyed a day at King's Island.

Margaret Chilcote and Ella Mae Jenkins drove to Lake White and had lunch at the Crouse House in Waverly, on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rhymer, Jeff, Chrissie and Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. James Daft and Tiera, Miss Barbara Evans and Mrs. Pauline Pearce visited King's Island, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McCabe and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Pearce and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Pearce attended the Pearce-McDonald Reunion, Sunday at Dawes Arboretum.

The Bowman and Murray Reunion was held at Cross Mound Park on Sunday.

Those attending were Mrs. Iva Bowman, Columbus; Mrs. Letha

Murray, Tessie Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Murray, Donnie, Joy, Pam, Allen and Julie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Murray, Tammy and Kim, Mr. Woody O'Day, Tarleton;

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith, Lisa and Jeff, Sidney Congrove, Adelphi; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Murray, Michelle and Paul David, Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mock, Lancaster; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jones, Robert, Steven, John and Jeff, Mrs. Gloria Arehart, Billy, Denise and Angela, and Bill Carter, London; Mr. and Mrs. Phil Henry, Mr. and Mrs. William Murray and Mr. and Mrs. William Pilot, Cincinnati.

Mrs. Edith McJunkin, Mrs. Betty McJunkin and Mrs. Margie Downs were hostesses for the August meeting of the United Methodist Women, at the church, on Wednesday afternoon.

The group sang "Faith of Our Fathers" and "He Leadeth Me."

Alvena Judy used the topic "Faith" as the theme of devotions, reading an article on "Faith" and the faith chapter in Hebrews, closing devotions with prayer.

Fay Pine presided at the business meeting, and reports were given by Roanne Spung and Betty McJunkin. Final plans were made for the annual fish fry, which will be held at the Town Hall on Aug. 14. Genevieve Hedges contributed to the birthday fund.

Margie Downs presented two contests "Animals for the Bible" won by Edith McJunkin and "Colors of the Bible" won by Helen Welch and Roanne Spung. Betty McJunkin conducted a contest "Food" which was won by Maude Hedges.

The program concluded with a reading "Person's Mission" by Betty McJunkin.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, at attractively decorated tables, to 17 members and two guests.

The Tarleton Methodist Church is again sponsoring the annual Fish Fry on Aug. 14 at the Tarleton Town Hall, with serving to begin at 4 p.m.

The event originated in 1935, and has been held each year since, with the exception of 1945 (World War II).

The Reverend Raymond Welch is pastor of the church.

Food to be served at the fish fry will include fish, potato salad, baked beans, cole slaw, beets, apple sauce, tomatoes, pie, cake and ice cream.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Go For Second Round

DEAR ABBY: George and I have been married for 32 years, and with so many of his friends dropping dead of heart attacks and my friends dying of cancer, we started talking about what we would do if the other one were to die.

I told George that if he were to die, I'd never marry again, and he said I obviously didn't have a very high opinion of our marriage.

Then George told me that if I were to die, he would definitely marry again, which proved that he thought more of our marriage than I did.

I asked him if he had anybody in mind, and he named a woman whose husband is still living. I asked him what about her husband, and he said, "Well, if YOU can die, HE can die too, so I'm just assuming you were both dead."

One word led to another, and now we aren't speaking.

Abby, is it true that people who think highly of their marriage will marry again if a spouse dies, and who don't, will not?

If that's true, I'll apologize.

GLADYS

DEAR GLADYS: Apologize.

DEAR ABBY: To begin with, from August through December of last year, I had a running battle with the credit department of a large, well-known, high-class, New York based department store. They claimed I owed them $100.

After much correspondence, they finally admitted that due to a computer error, instead of MY owing them $100, THEY owed me .10!

For the last six months, they have been sending me a monthly notice that I have a credit of .10.

Abby, so far, it has cost them .60 in

(1) The diameter of the circle was approximately 1,140 square feet. It was about 3,580 feet in circumference. The length of each side of the square was approximately 900 feet and was tangent to the circle at the mid point of the circle's western side. The center of the circle was the point at which Court and Main now cross.

(2) On July 25, 1810, Daniel Dreisbach was appointed director and proceeded to lay out a town. Daniel Dreisbach was the son of Henry Dreisbach. He was born May 28, 1778 and died Sept. 28, 1850. His 40 years of service to Pickaway County made him one of the most important figures in the early history of this area. Dreisbach held the office of director until his death. During the last decade of his life he was the center of controversy as his appointed duty made him responsible for squaring the circle.

postage to call my attention to a .10 credit. Don't you agree that this is absurd?

It's no wonder the state of New York is broke. Those know-it-all easterners think they are so smart that nobody can tell them a thing.

Please print your comments on this ridiculous situation, and I will gladly spend a dime to mail it to them.

HAD IT IN L.A.

DEAR HAD IT: I agree, it's foolish to spend .10 a month after month to inform a customer of a .10 credit. But why indict a whole state for the non-sensical business practice of one company?

DEAR ABBY: A woman complained that her husband deserted her and their children, and when she tried to locate him through the Social Security office, they told her he was alive, but they refused to disclose his whereabouts. (You said, "Even burns have rights.")

No more! Beginning July 1st, a new law has gone into effect that permits wives to have access to federal data (I.R.S., Social Security, Civil Service, Defense Dept., etc.) to locate deserting ex-spouses who have failed to pay alimony and or child support.

Designed primarily to keep mothers off welfare, the law can be used to locate even middle-class or upper-class nonsupporters.

It would be helpful if you published the following address of the Parent Locator Service because so few attorneys, and even fewer mothers whose husbands have deserted them, know of its existence:

Monrovia Garden Club Discusses Convention, Coming Club Activities

Monrovia Garden Club met Monday evening at Five Points United Methodist Church and from there went as a group to tour the dahlia gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Leewood Bushee, Route 3.

Mrs. Bushee displayed the many types of dahlias and told what she and Mr. Bushee used to promote growth and to control insects.

Members conducted a business meeting at the church. Mrs. Allen Follrod presided and led in "The Lord's Prayer" followed with roll call by Laura Long, with 18 members answering with tips for growth and showing dahlias.

Thank you notes were read from Mr. and Mrs. Joe Armentrout and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Grover, for flowers sent to Arthur Grover, and a note on the Sight Saver Fund from Pickaway County Board of Health. An invitation to Darby Valley Garden Club's annual Homecoming Flower Show on Aug. 15 and 16 at Harrisburg was read and Commercial Point Homecoming Food and Craft entry sheets were distributed.

The radio program at Washington C. H. with the topic "Gardens Of Perennials" will be presented by Mrs.

John O'Day and Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers.

Mrs. Harry Smith, the club's delegate to the 45 Convention at Holiday Inn the last of July, reported on events there.

Mrs. Dwight DeVoss, president, presided over the business session and introduced the new regional director, Mrs. Dorothy Wolfe. Mrs. Ralph Topping was welcomed as a new member.

Plans were made for a bus to transport members to "Gardener's Day Out" on Sept. 17 at Wooster. The date of Sept. 29, was named for a meeting of all who have gone on the four trips recently, at Commercial Point United Methodist Church.

A dessert course was served by Mrs. Otha Lewis, Miss Saralie Grabill and Mrs. Allen Follrod.

Mrs. Joe Armentrout and Mrs. Shirley Anderson brought displays of dahlias and explained about their care and growth. Some were grown from seeds.

The next meeting will be held 8 p.m., Sept. 8, at Commercial Point United Methodist Church with Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Clyde Michel and Mrs. Charles Woods as hostesses.

Hampshire Family Meets At Ash Cave

The Hampshire family spent a day together recently at Ash Cave. Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hampshire Jr., Brenta Whitcraft, Opal Lesit, Paul Peters, Pauline Bush and Michael, and Gladys Cupp of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pritchard, Lori and Matt, Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Hampshire, Billy and Julie; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hampshire, Rockbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hampshire Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Royce Smith and Todd, South Bloomingville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hampshire and Chrissie, Mr. and Mrs. David Myers, Betty Jo and Kevin; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Giffin, Jeremy and Lori; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hart and Penny, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hart, and Mrs. Mae Williams. Logan: Ada Wagner, William Norman, Nelsonville; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wagner, Nelsonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hampshire were in charge of plans for the day. Prizes were given to the youngest child, Julie Hampshire; oldest man, Orval Hampshire Sr.; oldest lady, Opal Leist; most recently married, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hampshire, married the longest, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hampshire Sr. and for traveling the farthest distance, Opal Leist.

Mrs. Leist led devotions at the noon hour. Elected to make arrangements for the reunion in 1976 were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hampshire.

Plans Completed For August Rites

Plans have been completed for the 7:30 p.m., Aug. 12, wedding of Miss Sandra Greenlee and Don Dennewitz at Calvary Lutheran Church in Chillicothe.

Miss Greenlee is the daughter of Mrs. Harold Struckman, Route 2, Circleville, and Gaylord Greenlee, 157 1/2 W. Main St., Circleville.

Miss Greenlee is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Chillicothe.

Mr. Dennewitz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dennewitz, 481 Church St., Chillicothe. He is a graduate of Chillicothe High School and is also employed at the VA Hospital, Chillicothe.

The tradition of open church will be observed.

Personals

Brenda Whitcraft, Lawnfield Drive, spent a few days recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hampshire, South Bloomingville.

They attended the weekend Homecoming revival at Mt. Carmel Church when the Rev. James Patterson of Chillicothe was evangelist. Following the all-day service on Sunday a carry-in dinner was served.

Mrs. Roger T. Kennedy, the former Marguerite Scott, Edwards, Calif., has returned home following a visit with her sister, Mrs. Roseann Stinson, 215 E. Union St., and other relatives and friends in the Circleville area.

Christian Women Schedule Picnic

Circleville Christian Women's Club will meet for a catered picnic and business session 11:45 a.m. Wednesday at shelter house 1, Ted Lewis Park.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Peggy Lasley of Pickerington and music will be provided by The Melody Three of Columbus.

For reservations call 983-2098. Baby sitting will be provided.

Extension Homemaker News

This year, thanks to the Pickaway County Extension Homemakers, something new was added to the fair. July 31st was the day, the 4-H and Grange building was the place, and "From Petticoats To Pantsuits" was the theme of the County Homemakers Style Show.

Any homemaker from Pickaway County was eligible to show off her sewing talents and many beautiful garments were modeled. Also to add to the Bicentennial celebration, garments of that era were modeled.

Mary Masters, of Ashville, and a member of the Country Kitchen Homemakers club, moderated the event and many homemaker club members worked hard to make the event a success. Susan McClelland added a little humor to the evening with some walk-on skits. It was a nice turnout for the first year and the homemakers promised a bigger and better show next year.

Modeling in the Junior Division were: Kim Williams, Joyce Woolever, Mary Lee Baum, Penelope Barnhart, Kimberle Williams, and Terressa Williams. In the Senior Division were:

Sharon Wharf, Carol DeMint, Mrs. Joyce Hedges, Mrs. Thelma Williams, Mrs. Sally Anderson, Joyce DeMint, Donna Beougher, June Timmons and daughter Amy, Mrs. Madge Baum, Emily Berry, and Susan McClelland.

In addition, clothes made by homemakers and modeled by others were: Mrs. Royce Woolever, modeled by Joyce Woolever; Mrs. Madge Baum, modeled by Mary Lee Baum and Beverly Bechtel; Mrs. Nelva Kasler, modeled by Marge Bergen; Mrs. Alice Woolever, modeled by Glenna Ett.

Mrs. Cathy Peart, modeled by Mrs. Mary Tumeo, Venice Tumeo, and Cheryl Miller; Thelma Williams, modeled by Terressa Williams; Ruth Pontius, modeled by Kim Clark; Mrs. Rosalita Dill, modeled by Wendy Dill; Mrs. Joyce Hedges, modeled by Heidi Hedges; and Susan McClelland, modeled by C. R. and Doug McClelland.

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

A glimpse into books about far away places gives meaning to children's questions about what Davy Crockett might have looked like, or what cowboys wore.

"Tecumseh," a third grade book, by James McCague, contains enough action to keep boys reading, and the full page color illustrations indicate how people of the time lived. The cruel treatment of Indians and white men toward their captives give a picture of how wars begin.

The biography of "Crazy Horse" similarly gives children a chance to see the skin clothing and wigwams used by Indians. Again, the ferocious battles will interest reluctant readers.

Older Indian men today still wear braids and play the drums when seeking rain. "Cowboy Sam and the Indians" is a simple story of a boy's adventure on a ranch. Indian life today comes alive for Sam on his first visit West.

A very easy book is the beginning reader, "Cowboy Sam and Big Bill." It tells of a typical working day and interwoven are the humorous adventures that always occur when boys and animals get together.

Paul Bunyan traveled from Maine to California and these lumbermen's tales are part of our heritage, now assembled in "Paul Bunyan Swings

His Axe." The short episodes could be shared, one at a time. The night Babe, the blue ox greedily eats the camp's supply of pancakes and even the old black stove will provide plenty of laughs.

"Westward Adventure," tales of six pioneers, catches the danger of the frontier in these authentic events. Girls, especially, will want to read how Mary Ingles was captured. She was forced to travel with the Shawnees until she made her escape, out-dancing these warriors.

"Small Wolf," by Nathaniel Benchley, is a sympathetic account of the retreat of the Indians from Manhattan Island. Small Wolf's family didn't believe God's land could be bought or sold. However, the settlers guns silenced all arguments as the Indians moved many times, seeking safety and fertile land to plant their crops.

From a different time we learn of another brave Ohioan in "Civil War Nurse," a story of Mary Ann Bickerdyke. Moved by all the suffering she saw, and without authority, she kept the soldiers of South as well as the North as comfortable as possible. And she was stubborn enough to obtain food and medicines, even illegally, if it would help the men.

Share these books about yesterday with your family; they're really inspiring.

APPLE KRAUT

Choose an apple for this dish that won't fall apart in the cooking.

2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Small onion, cut in thin strips

7 3/4-ounce can sauerkraut, undrained

Small green apple, sliced

2 tablespoons dark brown sugar

1-3rd cup water

In a 1-quart saucepan in the hot butter brown the onion. Add the remaining ingredients. Let bubble gently, stirring several times, until the apple is cooked, there is little liquid left and the flavors have blended — 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

You know you've got just the spot for this sharp occasional chair. And we've got it priced so you can't afford to pass it up. All you have to do is make your choice from our specially-purchased selection.

Top fabrics are exquisitely tailored to set off the hardwood trim. And you can be sure that there has been no sacrifice in quality. Construction and fabric are guaranteed for two full years by Norwalk Furniture Corporation.

Hard to believe that you get all this at the price you see here? There's no gimmick. We made a good purchase of quality chairs at a rock bottom price. Now we are offering you the very definition of a great value.

But don't just take our word for it. Come in and judge for yourself. Come soon, though, to claim your choice while the selection is complete.

Monrovia Garden Club Discusses Convention, Coming Club Activities

Monrovia Garden Club met Monday evening at Five Points United Methodist Church and from there went as a group to tour the dahlia gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Leewood Bushee, Route 3.

Mrs. Bushee displayed the many types of dahlias and told what she and Mr. Bushee used to promote growth and to control insects.

Members conducted a business meeting at the church. Mrs. Allen Follrod presided and led in "The Lord's Prayer" followed with roll call by Laura Long, with 18 members answering with tips for growth and showing dahlias.

Thank you notes were read from Mr. and Mrs. Joe Armentrout and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Grover, for flowers sent to Arthur Grover, and a note on the Sight Saver Fund from Pickaway County Board of Health. An invitation to Darby Valley Garden Club's annual Homecoming Flower Show on Aug. 15 and 16 at Harrisburg was read and Commercial Point Homecoming Food and Craft entry sheets were distributed.

The radio program at Washington C. H. with the topic "Gardens Of Perennials" will be presented by Mrs.

John O'Day and Mrs. Elizabeth Rogers.

Mrs. Harry Smith, the club's delegate to the 45 Convention at Holiday Inn the last of July, reported on events there.

Mrs. Dwight DeVoss, president, presided over the business session and introduced the new regional director, Mrs. Dorothy Wolfe. Mrs. Ralph Topping was welcomed as a new member.

Plans were made for a bus to transport members to "Gardener's Day Out" on Sept. 17 at Wooster. The date of Sept. 29, was named for a meeting of all who have gone on the four trips recently, at Commercial Point United Methodist Church.

A dessert course was served by Mrs. Otha Lewis, Miss Saralie Grabill and Mrs. Allen Follrod.

Mrs. Joe Armentrout and Mrs. Shirley Anderson brought displays of dahlias and explained about their care and growth. Some were grown from seeds.

The next meeting will be held 8 p.m., Sept. 8, at Commercial Point United Methodist Church with Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Clyde Michel and Mrs. Charles Woods as hostesses.

Hampshire Family Meets At Ash Cave

The Hampshire family spent a day together recently at Ash Cave. Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hampshire Jr., Brenta Whitcraft, Opal Leist, Paul Peters, Pauline Bush and Michael, and Gladys Cupp of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pritchard, Lori and Matt, Stoutsville; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hampshire, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Hampshire, Billy and Julie; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hampshire, Rockbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hampshire Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Royce Smith and Todd, South Bloomingville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hampshire and Chrissie, Mr. and Mrs. David Myers, Betty Jo and Kevin; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Giffin, Jeremy and Lori; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hart and Penny, Mr. and Mrs. Rick Hart, and Mrs. Mae Williams. Logan: Ada Wagner, William Norman, Nelsonville; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wagner, Nelsonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hampshire were in charge of plans for the day. Prizes were given to the youngest child, Julie Hampshire; oldest man, Orval Hampshire Sr.; oldest lady, Opal Leist; most recently married, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hampshire, married the longest, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hampshire Sr. and for traveling the farthest distance, Opal Leist.

Mrs. Leist led devotions at the noon hour. Elected to make arrangements for the reunion in 1976 were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hampshire.

Plans Completed For August Rites

Plans have been completed for the 7:30 p.m., Aug. 12, wedding of Miss Sandra Greenlee and Don Dennewitz at Calvary Lutheran Church in Chillicothe.

Miss Greenlee is the daughter of Mrs. Harold Struckman, Route 2, Circleville, and Gaylord Greenlee, 157 1/2 W. Main St., Circleville.

Miss Greenlee is a graduate of Circleville High School and is employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Chillicothe.

Mr. Dennewitz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dennewitz, 481 Church St., Chillicothe. He is a graduate of Chillicothe High School and is also employed at the VA Hospital, Chillicothe.

The tradition of open church will be observed.

Personals

Brenda Whitcraft, Lawnfield Drive, spent a few days recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hampshire, South Bloomingville.

They attended the weekend Homecoming revival at Mt. Carmel Church when the Rev. James Patterson of Chillicothe was evangelist. Following the all-day service on Sunday a carry-in dinner was served.

Mrs. Roger T. Kennedy, the former Marguerite Scott, Edwards, Calif., has returned home following a visit with her sister, Mrs. Roseann Stinson, 215 E. Union St., and other relatives and friends in the Circleville area.

Extension Homemaker News

This year, thanks to the Pickaway County Extension Homemakers, something new was added to the fair. July 31st was the day, the 4-H and Grange building was the place, and "From Petticoats To Pantsuits" was the theme of the County Homemakers Style Show.

Any homemaker from Pickaway County was eligible to show off her sewing talents and many beautiful garments were modeled. Also to add to the Bicentennial celebration, garments of that era were modeled.

Mary Masters, of Ashville, and a member of the Country Kitchen Homemakers club, moderated the event and many homemaker club members worked hard to make the event a success. Susan McClelland added a little humor to the evening with some walk-on skits. It was a nice turnout for the first year and the homemakers promised a bigger and better show next year.

Modeling in the Junior Division were: Kim Williams, Joyce Woolever, Mary Lee Baum, Penelope Barnhart, Kimberle Williams, and Teressa Williams. In the Senior Division were:

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

A glimpse into books about far away places gives meaning to children's questions about what Davy Crockett might have looked like, or what cowboys wore.

"Tecumseh," a third grade book, by James McCague, contains enough action to keep boys reading, and the full page color illustrations indicate how people of the time lived. The cruel treatment of Indians and white men toward their captives give a picture of how wars begin.

The biography of "Crazy Horse" similarly gives children a chance to see the skin clothing and wigwams used by Indians. Again, the ferocious battles will interest reluctant readers.

Older Indian men today still wear braids and play the drums when seeking rain. "Cowboy Sam and the Indians" is a simple story of a boy's adventure on a ranch. Indian life today comes alive for Sam on his first visit West.

A very easy book is the beginning reader, "Cowboy Sam and Big Bill." It tells of a typical working day and interwoven are the humorous adventures that always occur when boys and animals get together.

Paul Bunyan traveled from Maine to California and these lumbermen's tales are part of our heritage, now assembled in "Paul Bunyan Swings

His Axe." The short episodes could be shared, one at a time. The night Babe, the blue ox greedily eats the camp's supply of pancakes and even the old black stove will provide plenty of laughs.

"Westward Adventure," tales of six pioneers, catches the danger of the frontier in these authentic events. Girls, especially, will want to read how Mary Ingles was captured. She was forced to travel with the Shawnees until she made her escape, out-distancing these warriors.

"Small Wolf," by Nathaniel Benchley, is a sympathetic account of the retreat of the Indians from Manhattan Island. Small Wolf's family didn't believe God's land could be bought or sold. However, the settlers guns silenced all arguments as the Indians moved many times, seeking safety and fertile land to plant their crops.

From a different time we learn of another brave Ohioan in "Civil War Nurse," a story of Mary Ann Bickerdyke. Moved by all the suffering she saw, and without authority, she kept the soldiers of South as well as the North as comfortable as possible. And she was stubborn enough to obtain food and medicines, even illegally, if it would help the men.

Share these books about yesterday with your family; they're really inspiring.

APPLE KRAUT

Choose an apple for this dish that won't fall apart in the cooking.
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Small onion, cut in thin strips
7 1/4-ounce can sauerkraut, undrained
Small green apple, sliced
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
1-3rd cup water

In a 1-quart saucepan in the hot butter brown the onion. Add the remaining ingredients. Let bubble gently, stirring several times, until the apple is cooked, there is little liquid left and the flavors have blended — 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 4 servings.

Ah! These absolutely divine cool breezes are heavenly, are they not? I suspect they won't be with us for long but believe me while they are here I shall really enjoy them.

First order of the day this week is to request one and all to send a birthday card to our Beth. It would be such a joy to her to receive lots and lots of cards from here.

Send to: Miss Elisabeth Souza, Rua Jose' de Holanda, No. 917 Torre Recife Per. 50.000 Brazil, South America. We have heard from Beth several times and talked with her by phone once and each time she asked to be remembered to her many friends.

Karen (Mrs. Joe) Fenneken is now at home and doing well after a lengthy stay as a patient at Riverside Hospital where she underwent two major surgeries. Karen wishes to express her grateful appreciation to her friends, neighbors, relatives and family for their numerous acts of thoughtfulness and kindness and the prayers offered in her behalf as well as all the gifts, cards and visits.

A special thank you to her minister the Rev. LeRoy Newsome of the Williamsport Christian Union Church for his visits, prayers and guiding hand.

All Karen's friends, neighbors, relatives and family are pleased she is on the recuperation road and are hopeful good health will be completely restored to her very soon.

More and more folks are traveling camper style and so it was this past week with Martin and Helen Schlueters of Holgate, when they drove to our village and spent a few days with Harry and Emma Puffinbarger. The Schlueters just pulled their camper up in the drive way and that was that.

Both couples became good friends during their winter months stay in Maines City, Fla. and now each summer they enjoy each other's company sometime during the summer months, too.

On another night recently Bob List and his family visited with Aunt Emma and Harry by pulling their camper curbside. Come to think of it who visited who since Harry and Emma were in the camper with the Lists?

One of our favorite persons, Charlie Picklesimer, is a patient in Room 531 Grant Hospital, Columbus, Ohio. We surely hope he is all better real soon.

Another fellow we hold in high esteem, Walter Wright is a patient at Berger Hospital. Our wishes for a speedy recovery for him are top listed.

Faith Ann "Lollipop" Picklesimer had a fun time at Myrtle Beach, S.C. on a recent trip there with her Aunt Janet and Uncle Dave Lovett and cousin T.

D. The Lovett family are residents of The Plains near Athens.

Upon their return to Ohio the Lovetts had the pleasure of niece Marci Thompson of our area as a house guest for several days. Marci is the little charmer of Brad and Donna Thompson. The Thompsons, by the way, have moved from their home just east of town on Route 22 to a home near Fox Post Office. They will be building a new home very soon.

Festival
Oh, boy, is it ever getting close to that time of the year for our fifth annual festival. This year we will be known as the Deercreek Dam Days Festival instead of the Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival. Since the original sulphur spring is now obscured by Deercreek and considered a rather hopeless cause insofar as reconstruction, it held little value for viewing so the executive officers chose to incorporate the beautiful dam as an integral part of our festival.

The four big days this year will be Sept. 11, 12, 13, and 14 with a parade scheduled for each day. One of the more attractive offers this year will be the Bicentennial special of six amusement rides for only one dollar when accompanied by a coupon which will be distributed by local merchants and some individuals.

The recipes for the Festival Cookbook are being readied and we on the committee will never be able to fully thank Cindy Schleich for the outstanding job she has done in getting the recipes typed for us.

Jane Wright is diligently working on getting letters out to a number of drill team units inviting them to participate in a new venture this year — a drill team competition. Any unit is welcome and should a group not receive a letter, they are still encouraged to contact either Janet (986-2132) or myself (986-3481). More details in a later column.

Euchre club met at the home of Stewie Forsythe on Tuesday evening and that Eggie Hayes took home every prize but low which she let Dottie Burris have — really big of her, huh? Eggie captured high, most loners, and floating loner. Letting her sweep the board were Barb Rickman, Betty Clifton, Janet Clifton, Dolly Thompson, yours truly and those already mentioned.

The hostess was the "mostess" with her delicious relish plates, turkey salad, cool green gelatin, fruit and nut dish and iced beverages. A secret sister gift was given to Dolly for her upcoming August birthday. Hope my secret sis remembers that September is my month.

Be with you again next week, be the Lord willing. Take care.

Think About: It is necessary for the heart of the one who speaks to rest itself on the heart of the friends who listens. (Countess Du Barry).

Veterans Questions Answered

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week The Herald will publish a series of Questions and Answers of interest to veterans. These questions and answers are some of the many presented to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer in the basement of the Pickaway County Court House.

(Q.) I am a veteran with a Service Connected Disability rated at 50 per cent. My daughter has graduated from High School, and would like to attend nursing school. Can she receive educational benefits from the VA?

(A.) No, she cannot. The Dependents Educational Assistance, formerly known as the War Orphan's Educational Assistance is for the purpose of providing opportunities for education to: Children whose education would otherwise be impeded or interrupted by reason of the Service Connected Total and Permanent disability or death of a parent, or death of a veteran parent who died of Non Service Connected causes while totally permanently disabled due to Service Connected Disability, or whose veteran parent died the result of a Service Connected Disability.

(Q.) I get VA compensation for a Service Connected Disability. If I have to go to a VA hospital for treatment of the disability, will VA increase my Compensation?

(A.) If hospitalized 21 days or more, your disability rating will be increased to 100 per cent. Compensation at that rate will be paid until you leave the hospital.

(Q.) I am a Korean Conflict veteran who recently quit his job in order to go back to school full time. Can I still claim education benefits under the GI Bill?

(A.) No. All GI Bill education benefits for Korean Conflict Veterans were terminated January 31, 1965.

(Q.) Could my World War II Service in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps give me eligibility for a GI Bill loan at this late date?

(A.) Unused, expired GI loan entitlement was restored to World War II and Korea veterans in 1970. WAAC veterans who served at least 90 days, but who were discharged before October 1, 1943, for disability which precluded further service in the WAAC

9 Freed Of KSU Charges

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Damages claims have been dropped against nine former Ohio National Guardsmen in the $46 million civil suit stemming from the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

Eight of the nine, all ex-enlisted men, had not been called to the witness stand and the other testified he did not fire.

In testimony on the first day of the defense's case, former Kent Police Chief Roy Thompson said civil authorities never surrendered command to the troops who later killed four students and wounded nine during an attempt to break up a campus antiwar rally.

"We had control of what was going on," said Thompson, who retired about a year after the incident.

The defense's first two witnesses, a Kent fire fighter and a Kent police patrolman, told the jury about three nights of burning and rioting that preceded the shootings May 4, 1970.

The troops were ordered to Kent on the second night of the demonstrations sparked by announcement of U.S. military activities in Southeast Asia. The victims and their families brought the suit against more than 50 present and former state officials and guardsmen.

The plaintiffs' voluntary dismissal of the claims against the nine dropped the number of defendants to 32, including Gov. James A. Rhodes, former Kent State President Robert I. White, ex-Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso and guard Brig. Gen. Robert H. Canterbury.

Thompson's testimony matched that of White and the generals, who said the decision to ban rallies was a general agreement by city officials, guard officers and local law enforcement authorities.

U.S. Grants Awarded To Cleveland State

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health and the City of Cleveland each have been awarded a $500,000 grant to be used to develop an emergency medical services system, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced.

Similar grants nationwide totaled $32.2 million, HEW officials said.

or its successor organization, the Women's Army Corps, are eligible for GI loans on the same basis as other eligible veterans.

Thompson's testimony matched that of White and the generals, who said the decision to ban rallies was a general agreement by city officials, guard officers and local law enforcement authorities.

U.S. Grants Awarded To Cleveland State

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — The Ohio Department of Health and the City of Cleveland each have been awarded a $500,000 grant to be used to develop an emergency medical services system, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced. Similar grants nationwide totaled $32.2 million, HEW officials said.

or its successor organization, the Women's Army Corps, are eligible for GI loans on the same basis as other eligible veterans.

"We asked the National Guard to see there wasn't any assemblies," he said.

The shooting victims contend the Guard unlawfully usurped the powers of other law enforcement groups, but Thompson also denied hearing Rhodes tell officials privately just before a news conference in Kent on Sunday that he was taking personal command.

Thompson also said it was he who warned at the news conference that authorities would shoot if necessary to keep the peace. The victims' attorneys had attributed the remark to Del Corso and said his men could have heard it on radio newscasts.

The fireman, David R. Helming, told the jury that students stole firehose and hacked and stabbed it to uselessness Saturday night, May 2. The demonstrators then drove firemen away from the burning campus Reserve Officers Training Corps building, which was destroyed.

The policeman, William Sutliff, said he and fellow officers struggled for nearly six hours to regain control of a downtown street one night earlier. A crowd of about 1,000 persons occupied all four lanes of a city street, setting a fire in the middle and smashing windows on both sides, he said.

He also described a struggle with a large group of students after they had marched on the home of the Kent State president Sunday night.

The defense won the right in the first two weeks of the trial to examine the events leading up to the shootings. Lead defense attorney Burt J. Fulton said he hoped to show what guardsmen were thinking about when they opened fire on Monday.

The guardsmen dismissed were Paul R. Naujoks and Joseph D. Sholl of Stow, Roger A. Maas of Wooster, Rudy E. Morris of Chagrin Falls, Paul R. Zimmerman of Orrville, Phillip D. Raber of Creston, Richard R. Shade of Homerville, Dennis L. Breckenridge of Hartville and William J. Case of Mogadore. Naujoks was the only one to take the stand.

Defense motions to dismiss all other defendants have been denied.

NEW YORK (AP) — The modern world's "reality police," those dominant influences that define what's real, have blanked out ideas of a transcendent God, says sociologist Peter L. Berger, but repressed drives tend to break out in other odd forms.

That is what's happening, he says, in present-day America. "The so-called cultural elite keep saying that religion, God, the supernatural, is not intellectually kosher," Berger said in an interview. "It's pushed under the level of consciousness. But then it comes up in other, often bizarre ways."

This is the contemporary religious situation in which the historic, Biblical concept of a universal God who created the cosmos, its laws and a freely choosing humanity has become obscured by a variegated rash of other "gods" and cults.

It's a reaction detected in Freudian psychology, Berger notes, that a repressed reality is apt to burst out in some other deviant way.

Berger, 46, of Brooklyn, sociology professor at Rutgers University and an influential author on religion as well as sociology, has discussed his thesis in recent lectures, and in a recent article in the ecumenical weekly, Christian Century.

"Transcendence," he says, "has been declared 'inoperative' by the major agencies that 'officially' define reality — such as the universities, the school systems, the medical system, the communications media, and to an extent, even the courts."

He says these "official reality-definers" — the intellectuals and would-be intellectuals — have imposed on Western minds a so-called "modern scientific worldview" that sees the cosmos only as a cold mathematical design.

This prevailing attitude has little to do with genuine science, he says, but it has become the built-in, overruling assumption of the present-day "reality police."

"The 'reality policemen' — teachers, psychiatrists, commentators and the like — watch over the cognitive boundaries of the culture," he adds. "In their perspective, transcendence in its historical forms is viewed as contraband goods."

"Such 'aberrations' are promptly excommunicated intellectually. The psychiatrists have at hand a full-blown 'syllabus of errors' for this purpose, as do language analysts and other assorted ideologists of cognitive status quo."

But despite the general "repressive" secularizing pressure against affirmation of a supreme God, Berger says there is "something close to an instinct for transcendence in human beings," and when such genuine drives are repressed they have a way of coming back, as Freud observed, often in grossly distorted forms.

"Repressed material will erupt most violently where the 'censorship' has been strongest," Berger notes, adding that this explains the more frenetic eruptions of transcendent ideas in areas where secularization has been most repressively established.

"In America, this means very largely the college-educated upper middle class," he says. "Black masses are celebrated in affluent suburbs — not in areas of the working class. It is the children of the most orthodox secularists, the offspring of thoroughly enlightened modern homes, who parade through the streets chanting Sanskrit hymns."

In such ways, he adds, transcendence continues a "vigorous, underground existence .... The 'gods', as it were, come in plain brown envelopes."

Slices Of Legislative Life

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Slices of legislative life in the home stretch:

After more than two months of tedious hearings, the House Finance Committee neared what looked like a routine vote on a complicated school aid formula.

When the roll was called, two Democrats abstained, and the bill fell one shy of the 12 votes needed for favorable recommendation.

One of the abstainers, Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, who had been tied up with critical malpractice legislation, said he simply had not found time to read the 87-page school bill.

Committee Chairman Vernal G. Riffe Jr., speaker of the House, abruptly recessed the hearing. He called Hinig in for a closed door meeting.

Minutes later, Hinig emerged smiling broadly.

"I read the bill real fast," he told reporters. "I'm a speed reader."

Then he changed his vote to "yes" and the bill escaped from committee.

Legislation to strengthen rape laws is no laughing matter, but Rep. Virginia Aveni, D-17 Cleveland, broke the somber tone of the House in discussing on the floor how victims are sometimes questioned by defense lawyers about their style of dress.

"Banks may advertise their assets," she told the House, "but it's still a crime to take money at gunpoint."

Rep. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, is an athletic-looking 32-year-old bachelor, and a bit of a dandy.

When he strode onto the House floor last week, colleagues on both sides of the aisle greeted him with squeals and laughter.

Fries decided to get his semilong hair styled. The stylist changed his normally straight hair with waves and curls.

"This is the most embarrassing thing that's ever happened to me," muttered the red-faced representative.

Conference committee members were trying to hammer out a compromise between Senate and House various of a controversial bill recently. The talk turned to a possible veto by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

That struck Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, as a waste of time.

"I think our job is to get a report out, not to worry about what the man downstairs is going to do," Shoemaker told committee members.

"He's pretty unpredictable anyhow."

American troops went into action for the first time in World War I on Oct. 21, 1917, when the First Division entered the Luneville section near Nancy, France.

Transcendant God Being Blanked Out?

NEW YORK (AP) — The modern world's "reality police," those dominant influences that define what's real, have blanked out ideas of a transcendant God, says sociologist Peter L. Berger, but repressed drives tend to break out in other odd forms.

That is what's happening, he says, in present-day America.

"The so-called cultural elite keep saying that religion, God, the supernatural, is not intellectually kosher," Berger said in an interview. "It's pushed under the level of consciousness. But then it comes up in other, often bizarre ways."

This is the contemporary religious situation in which the historic, Biblical concept of a universal God who created the cosmos, its laws and a freely choosing humanity has become obscured by a variegated rash of other "gods" and cults.

It's a reaction detected in Freudian psychology, Berger notes, that a repressed reality is apt to burst out in some other deviant way.

Berger, 46, of Brooklyn, sociology professor at Rutgers University and an influential author on religion as well as sociology, has discussed his thesis in recent lectures, and in a recent article in the ecumenical weekly, Christian Century.

"Transcendence," he says, "has been declared 'inoperative' by the major agencies that 'officially' define reality — such as the universities, the school systems, the medical system, the communications media, and to an extent, even the courts."

He says these "official reality-definers" — the intellectuals and would-be intellectuals — have imposed on Western minds a so-called "modern scientific worldview" that sees the cosmos only as a cold mathematical design.

This prevailing attitude has little to do with genuine science, he says, but it has become the built-in, overruling assumption of the present-day "reality police."

"The 'reality policemen' — teachers, psychiatrists, commentators and the like — watch over the cognitive boundaries of the culture," he adds. "In their perspective, transcendence in its historical forms is viewed as contraband goods."

"Such 'aberrations' are promptly excommunicated intellectually. The psychiatrists have at hand a full-blown 'syllabus of errors' for this purpose, as do language analysts and other assorted ideologists of cognitive status quo."

But despite the general "repressive" secularizing pressure against affirmation of a supreme God, Berger says there is "something close to an instinct for transcendence in human beings," and when such genuine drives are repressed they have a way of coming back, as Freud observed, often in grossly distorted forms.

"Repressed material will erupt most violently where the 'censorship' has been strongest," Berger notes, adding that this explains the more frenetic eruptions of transcendent ideas in areas where secularization has been most repressively established.

"In America, this means very largely the college-educated upper middle class," he says. "Black masses are celebrated in affluent suburbs — not in areas of the working class. It is the children of the most orthodox secularists, the offspring of thoroughly enlightened modern homes, who parade through the streets chanting Sanskrit hymns."

In such ways, he adds, transcendence continues a "vigorous, underground existence .... The 'gods', as it were, come in plain brown envelopes."

Slices Of Legislative Life

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Slices of legislative life in the home stretch: After more than two months of tedious hearings, the House Finance Committee neared what looked like a routine vote on a complicated school aid formula.

When the roll was called, two Democrats abstained, and the bill fell one shy of the 12 votes needed for favorable recommendation.

One of the abstainers, Rep. William E. Hinig, D-96 New Philadelphia, who had been tied up with critical malpractice legislation, said he simply had not found time to read the 87-page school bill.

Committee Chairman Vernal G. Riffe Jr., speaker of the House, abruptly recessed the hearing. He called Hinig in for a closed door meeting.

Minutes later, Hinig emerged smiling broadly.

"I read the bill real fast," he told reporters. "I'm a speed reader."

Then he changed his vote to "yes" and the bill escaped from committee.

Legislation to strengthen rape laws is no laughing matter, but Rep. Virginia Aveni, D-17 Cleveland, broke the somber tone of the House in discussing on the floor how victims are sometimes questioned by defense lawyers about their style of dress.

"Banks may advertise their assets," she told the House, "but it's still a crime to take money at gunpoint."

Rep. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, is an athletic-looking 32-year-old bachelor, and a bit of a dandy.

When he strode onto the House floor last week, colleagues on both sides of the aisle greeted him with squeals and laughter.

Fries decided to get his semilong hair styled. The stylist changed his normally straight hair with waves and curls.

"This is the most embarrassing

thing that's ever happened to me," muttered the red-faced representative.

Conference committee members were trying to hammer out a compromise between Senate and House various of a controversial bill recently. The talk turned to a possible veto by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

That struck Rep. Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, as a waste of time.

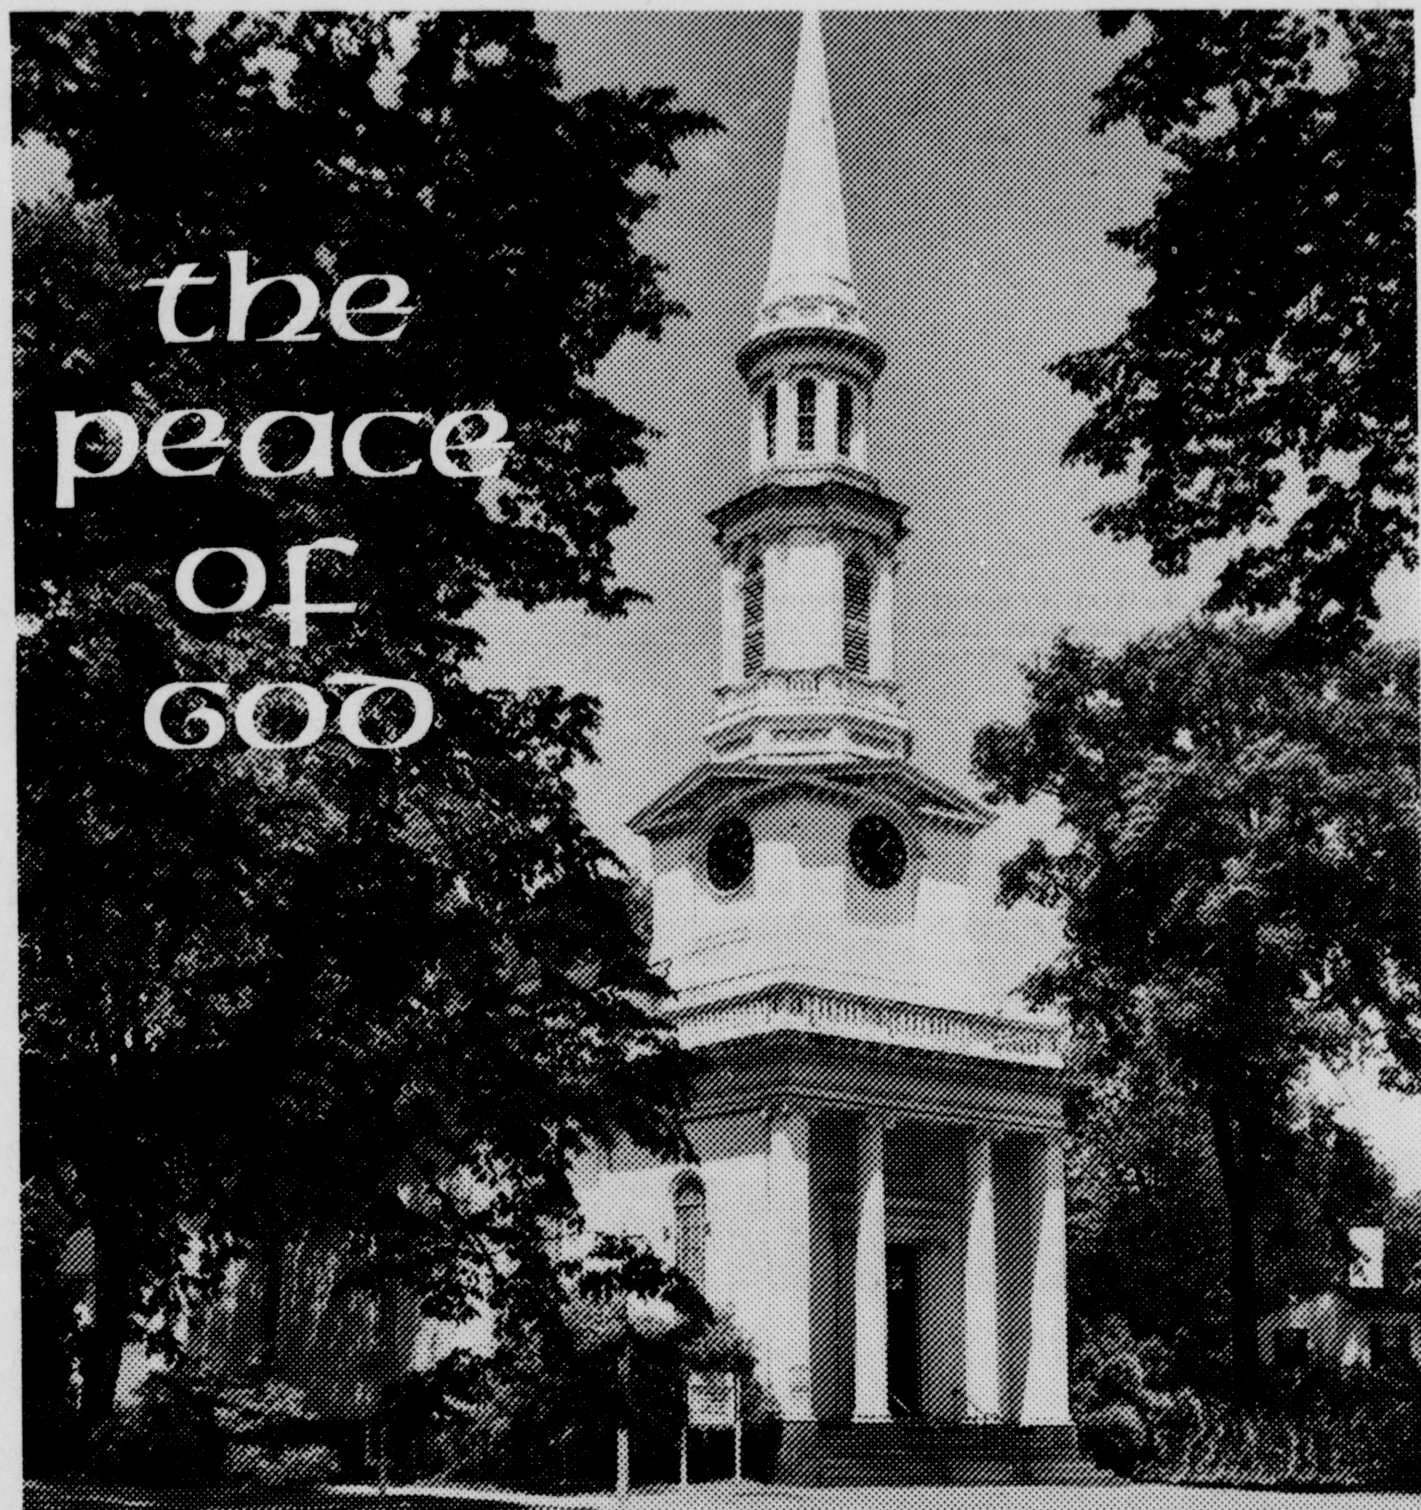

"I think our job is to get a report out, not to worry about what the man downstairs is going to do," Shoemaker told committee members.

"He's pretty unpredictable anyhow."

American troops went into action for the first time in World War I on Oct. 21, 1917, when the First Division entered the Lunerville section near Nancy, France.

Tangents

On Books And Activities At The Library

If you've looked at the calendar lately, you know that the summer days are rushing by. There's still time, however, for some leisure reading and lots of new books to choose from. OR, if you want to beat the crowd, why not take time now to browse through the books for ideas to make winter activities just a bit special this year?

Jay Presson Allen has written a novel around a December-May romance. "Just Tell Me What You Want" is another modern round in the battle of the sexes, touched with a generous helping of humor.

A new family saga revolves around Scarborough House overlooking the Hudson. Sharon Salvato is the author of the new chronicle about a girl from the slums. It's called "Scarborough House".

Suspense novels include a new one by Mary H. Clar, "Where Are The Children?" is sure to catch the reader in the chilling problem faced by the main character.

Susan Howatch is well-known for her ability to write of the world of mysterious rites and sinister magic. "The Devil On Lammas Night" lives up to the author's reputation.

Patrick Dawlish, head of Crime Haters, has a tough assignment as he tries to solve the mystery of three missing millionaire playboys. His problems make for fast-paced suspense in "The Big Call" by Gordon Ashe.

"They Found Him Dead" is a republication of one of Georgette Heyer's finest detective tales. If you're a Heyer fan, be sure to look for this one.

Sara Woods has given barrister Anthony Maitland yet another mystery to solve. "Done To Death" is her latest offering in this series.

"Seven Men Of Gascony" by R. F. Delderfield has been called one of the author's best novels. It follows the lives, loves, battles and enduring comradeship of seven soldiers who witnessed the defeat of Napoleon.

"Mrs. Tim Christie" is another reissue in the popular series about the wife of a British officer. If you haven't met this character created by D. E. Stevenson, you're missing some witty reading.

Will Henry is noted for his Indian novels. "The Bear Paw Horses" blends the hard history and the warm folklore of the horseback Indian.

Don't overlook the non-fiction shelves for help in beating the high cost of living. "Take It Off" by Robert Holzman may sound like advice for a strip-tease artist, but it's really 867 tax deductions you may have overlooked. "Put Money In Your Pocket" by Sheldon Jacobs explains the art of selecting no-load mutual funds.

Success often depends on a good memory. "Remembering People" is a new approach to putting the right name with the right face. It's written by Harry Lorayne, the memory-training authority.

Books about real people can offer endless variety to reading. "My Son The Jock" by Gerald Green is a delightful true story of a non-athletic father and his linebacker son.

"We're Going To Make You A Star" by Sally Quinn is the sometimes hilarious, sometimes sad account of her experiences as the first female network anchor on CBS news.

On the FBI most-wanted list longer than any other fugitive, the Florida Fox describes those nine years in "The Most Wanted Man In America" authored with Dave Fisher.

"Here At The New Yorker" by Brendan Gill is a must for fans of the popular magazine "The New Yorker." It looks at the fifty years that famous periodical has been in publication.

Theodore White is well qualified to write about Richard Nixon and his downfall. "Breach Of Faith" is his analysis of a crumbling administration.

If celestial oddballs intrigue you, "Beyond The Known Universe" by I. M. Levitt should give you a mind-stretching adventure.

"The Immortality Factor" by Osborn Segerberg, Jr. is an attempt to bring a clearer understanding of the prospect of man's possible immortality.

Whales and Dolphins are becoming important subjects to scientists. "Mind In The Waters" by Joan McIntyre is an interesting look at these fascinating creatures of the sea.

"The Complete Book Of Rug Making" by Cecelia Felcher is loaded with patterns and beautiful illustrations to inspire the hobbyist to start a new craft.

Beautiful volumes to browse and enjoy are becoming an important part of our collection. Among the latest arrivals is "The National Gallery Of Art: Washington D.C. And Its Paintings."

History is made interesting in "Reform And Revolt" from the Milestones Of History series. "The Townsmen" is the latest volume in Time-Life's series on The Old West.

The Pickaway County District Public Library is still on the corner of Pickaway and Main. It's worth a stop!

Lancaster Camp Plans Activities

The Rev. Edward P. Beck, Louisville, Ky., will be the special speaker in the 10:30 a.m. Sunday service at the Lancaster United Methodist Campgrounds, 2151 W. Fair Ave.

Beck holds degrees from the University of Kentucky and Emory University.

Very active in high school and college athletics, he toured the Orient with the basketball team, Venture for Victory, sponsored by the State Department and several church organizations.

He was the senior pastor of the Warren United Methodist Church in Denver, Col. and general manager of the Derby Dinner Playhouse located in Louisville, Ky. and Clarksville, Ind. Beck, his wife and four sons reside in Louisville, Ky.

The Camp Ground Homecoming will be held 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

At 7 p.m. will be evening vespers. The "Glory Road Singers", a fifty-voice group from Franklin and Licking County churches, will present a musical program at 8 p.m.

The singers are under the direction of Richard Anderson.

One of the most popular Gospel teams in the Lancaster area, "The Angelaires" will present a concert at 8 p.m. Aug. 16.

Circleville Band Practice Set

The schedule has been announced for the summer practice of the Circleville High and Junior High School Bands.

Junior High Band practice will be held 6-8 p.m. Aug. 18-22 and Aug. 25-28 at the junior high school.

The high school Majorettes will meet 8 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Aug. 11; Tigerettes, Aug. 12 and the Color Guard, Aug. 13 at the same scheduled time.

Full band rehearsal is set for 8 a.m. - 3:30 p.m., Aug. 14-15, Aug. 18-22 and Aug. 25-28.

Disney Productions Plans Lake Resort

TRUCKEE, Calif. (AP) — Walt Disney Productions, stymied in its dream of a year-round resort high in the Sierra mountains, has set its sights on a small man-made lake near the California-Nevada border.

Independence Lake, serene in the shadow of 9,143-foot Mt. Lola, will be the site of Disney's latest family "destination" resort, if local authorities approve.

Plans for the facility 192 miles east of San Francisco and 50 miles west of Reno, Nev., were outlined recently at a meeting for county supervisors and local planners.

Disney will build the resort on 10,000 acres, of which less than 10 per cent will be developed. The rest will remain in its natural state.

Included will be a pedestrian-oriented village, a 275-room lodge, underground parking, condominiums, shops, an electric-cog railway, a mountaintop restaurant and a variety of outdoor recreation activities, including skiing, hiking, camping and fishing. It will handle nearly 3,000 overnight visitors and 5,000 skiers each weekend day.

The project is similar to one derailed by environmentalists at Mineral King, a narrow, two-mile-long valley 7,800 feet up in Sequoia National Forest of Central California.

The Mineral King development would have included an "American alpine village," several restaurants, shops, convention facilities and outdoor sports activities.

The Mineral King project drew opposition from environmentalists, led by the Sierra Club, which filed a suit in 1969. The court battle snarled Disney's plans.

Disney spokesmen say they haven't really given up on Mineral King, but say it will have to wait until Independence Lake is finished, probably in 1978.

"We do not see Independence Lake as a substitute for Mineral King," said a Disney spokesman. He said the attractions are aimed at different users.

Disney conceived Mineral King as a destination resort for the millions of Southern Californians who already have easy access to Disneyland in Anaheim. Independence Lake is designed for visitors from Northern California and the Pacific Northwest.

On Books And Activities At The Library

If you've looked at the calendar lately, you know that the summer days are rushing by. There's still time, however, for some leisure reading and lots of new books to choose from. OR, if you want to beat the crowd, why not take time now to browse through the books for ideas to make winter activities just a bit special this year?

Jay Presson Allen has written a novel around a December-May romance. "Just Tell Me What You Want" is another modern round in the battle of the sexes, touched with a generous helping of humor.

A new family saga revolves around Scarborough House overlooking the Hudson. Sharon Salvato is the author of the new chronicle about a girl from the slums. It's called "Scarborough House".

Suspense novels include a new one by Mary H. Clar, "Where Are The Children?" is sure to catch the reader in the chilling problem faced by the main character.

Susan Howatch is well-known for her ability to write of the world of mysterious rites and sinister magic. "The Devil On Lammas Night" lives up to the author's reputation.

Patrick Dawlish, head of Crime Haters, has a tough assignment as he tries to solve the mystery of three missing millionaire playboys. His problems make for fast-paced suspense in "The Big Call" by Gordon Ashe.

"They Found Him Dead" is a republication of one of George Heyer's finest detective tales. If you're a Heyer fan, be sure to look for this one.

Sara Woods has given barrister Anthony Maitland yet another mystery to solve. "Done To Death" is her latest offering in this series.

"Seven Men Of Gascony" by R. F. Delderfield has been called one of the author's best novels. It follows the lives, loves, battles and enduring comradeship of seven soldiers who witnessed the defeat of Napoleon.

"Mrs. Tim Christie" is another reissue in the popular series about the wife of a British officer. If you haven't met this character created by D. E. Stevenson, you're missing some witty reading.

Will Henry is noted for his Indian novels. "The Bear Paw Horses" blends the hard history and the warm folklore of the horseback Indian.

Don't overlook the non-fiction shelves for help in beating the high cost of living. "Take It Off" by Robert Holzman may sound like advice for a strip-tease artist, but it's really 867 tax deductions you may have overlooked.

"Put Money In Your Pocket" by Sheldon Jacobs explains the art of selecting no-load mutual funds.

Success often depends on a good memory. "Remembering People" is a new approach to putting the right name with the right face. It's written by Harry Lorayne, the memory-training authority.

Books about real people can offer endless variety to reading. "My Son The Jock" by Gerald Green is a delightful true story of a non-athletic father and his linebacker son.

"We're Going To Make You A Star" by Sally Quinn is the sometimes hilarious, sometimes sad account of her experiences as the first female network anchor on CBS news.

On the FBI most-wanted list longer than any other fugitive, the Florida Fox describes those nine years in "The Most Wanted Man In America" authored with Dave Fisher.

"Here At The New Yorker" by Brendan Gill is a must for fans of the popular magazine "The New Yorker." It looks at the fifty years that famous periodical has been in publication.

Theodore White is well qualified to write about Richard Nixon and his downfall. "Breach Of Faith" is his analysis of a crumbling administration.

If celestial oddballs intrigue you, "Beyond The Known Universe" by I. M. Levitt should give you a mind-stretching adventure.

"The Immortality Factor" by Osborn Segerberg, Jr. is an attempt to bring a clearer understanding of the prospect of man's possible immortality.

Whales and Dolphins are becoming important subjects to scientists. "Mind In The Waters" by Joan McIntyre is an interesting look at these fascinating creatures of the sea.

"The Complete Book Of Rug Making" by Cecelia Felcher is loaded with patterns and beautiful illustrations to inspire the hobbyist to start a new craft.

Beautiful volumes to browse and enjoy are becoming an important part of our collection. Among the latest arrivals is "The National Gallery Of Art: Washington D.C. And Its Paintings."

History is made interesting in "Reform And Revolt" from the Milestones Of History series. "The Townsmen" is the latest volume in Time-Life's series on The Old West.

The Pickaway County District Public Library is still on the corner of Pickaway and Main. It's worth a stop!

Lancaster Camp Plans Activities

The Rev. Edward P. Beck, Louisville, Ky., will be the special speaker in the 10:30 a.m. Sunday service at the Lancaster United Methodist Campgrounds, 2151 W. Fair Ave.

Beck holds degrees from the University of Kentucky and Emory University.

Very active in high school and college athletics, he toured the Orient with the basketball team, Venture for Victory, sponsored by the State Department and several church organizations.

He was the senior pastor of the Warren United Methodist Church in Denver, Col. and general manager of the Derby Dinner Playhouse located in Louisville, Ky. and Clarksville, Ind.

Beck, his wife and four sons reside in Louisville, Ky.

The Camp Ground Homecoming will be held 2:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

At 7 p.m. will be evening vespers. The "Glory Road Singers", a fifty-voice group from Franklin and Licking County churches, will present a musical program at 8 p.m.

The singers are under the direction of Richard Anderson.

One of the most popular Gospel teams in the Lancaster area, "The Angelaires" will present a concert at 8 p.m. Aug. 16.

Circleville Band Practice Set

The schedule has been announced for the summer practice of the Circleville High and Junior High School Bands.

Junior High Band practice will be held 6-8 p.m. Aug. 18-22 and Aug. 25-28 at the junior high school.

The high school Majorettes will meet 8 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. Aug. 11; Tigerettes, Aug. 12 and the Color Guard, Aug. 13 at the same scheduled time.

Full band rehearsal is set for 8 a.m. - 3:30 p.m., Aug. 14-15, Aug. 18-22 and Aug. 25-28.

Disney Productions Plans Lake Resort

TRUCKEE, Calif. (AP) — Walt Disney Productions, stymied in its dream of a year-round resort high in the Sierra mountains, has set its sights on a small man-made lake near the California-Nevada border.

Independence Lake, serene in the shadow of 9,143-foot Mt. Lola, will be the site of Disney's latest family "destination" resort, if local authorities approve.

Plans for the facility 192 miles east of San Francisco and 50 miles west of Reno, Nev., were outlined recently at a meeting for county supervisors and local planners.

Disney will build the resort on 10,000 acres, of which less than 10 per cent will be developed. The rest will remain in its natural state.

Included will be a pedestrian-oriented village, a 275-room lodge, underground parking, condominiums, shops, an electric-cog railway, a mountaintop restaurant and a variety of outdoor recreation activities, including skiing, hiking, camping and fishing. It will handle nearly 3,000 overnight visitors and 5,000 skiers each weekend day.

The project is similar to one derailed by environmentalists at Mineral King, a narrow, two-mile-long valley 7,800 feet up in Sequoia National Forest of Central California.

Exchange Student Talks To Rotarians

ROTARY GUEST—Rotarian Bob Call, right, introduced Thursday's guests to the local Rotary Club. Miss Nadine, second from left, is an exchange student from India and spoke on the customs of her native country. She is being hosted in the United States by Dr. and Mrs. Carl H. Roberts, also pictured.

Bob Call introduced Miss Nadine, an exchange student from India and her host family, Dr. and Mrs. Carl H. Roberts. Roberts is a former professor of history at Ohio University in Athens. Miss Nadine told of her cultural habits in India and how the family held very strong ties. Although most marriages are still arranged by parents, there are few divorces in India.

Religious freedom is considered the essence of life and many different religions are practiced according to the exchange student.

Academically, Miss Nadine has pursued the study of zoology. She has taught biology on the college level for three years in Calicut, India. She expressed her gratitude to her host family, the former District Governor of Rotary, and the many friends she has made while visiting here.

In regular Rotary business, Ned Harden gave a report on the golf outing

Solon Wants Lottery Office In Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state senator from Columbus called Thursday for the State Lottery Commission to move its principal headquarters from Cleveland to Ohio's capital city.

Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, offered in the Senate a resolution which said in part that having the headquarters in Cleveland has created "a multitude" of problems which "have become increasingly apparent to the members of the legislature."

O'Shaughnessy's resolution made no mention of the embattled commission's current problems, including extensive criticisms of the state auditor.

But it said "interrelationship and coordination must be maintained" between the lottery commission and the other departments of state and the elected state officials."

It concluded by saying that the headquarters should be in Columbus where they will be "in close proximity to the central operations of all the other departments of state."

In another resolution offered Thursday, Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, requested a joint committee to study administrative practices and operating procedures within the State Industrial Commission and the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation.

His resolution said in part that "recent revelations by the news media have raised serious concerns with regard to the internal operations of the BWC and industrial commission."

He mentioned no particular cases, but obviously referred to suggestions of abuse of the programs published recently in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Pease proposed creation of an eight-member committee which would make the study and report back to the legislature by March 15, 1976.

Memorial Airport News

Hello dere! How can it be Friday again already? We've either got four Fridays in a week or I'm sleeping more. It seems hard to believe the summer is almost over and the little ones will be going back to school soon.

The Pickaway Flyers met at the Airport Aug. 6 to nominate permanent officers and plan some activities. Several people were nominated for the different offices and a formal election will be held at the next meeting 7:30 p.m. Aug. 13 at the airport. If you haven't yet joined us, please come out and join in the fun. It's open to everyone of all ages and we don't bar sex. I mean to say we have no sex barriers. In fact, the only barrier we have works for a union cemetery and spends most of his free time digging picket lines. A picket line is like a private line, only in this county it's easier to get a picket line than a private line.

Well, anyhow, the Pickaway Flyers have decided to sponsor a fly-in 1 p.m. Aug. 24 eastern Pickaway Time. The fly-in will be kicked off with a corn and weiner roast and then we'll get on with the activities of bomb drops, spot landings and balloon busts. And if you think I'll make a crack about a balloon bust, you're crazier than I am. We hope to make this another annual event and if it's successful, we might do it every year. So come on down Wednesday, Aug. 13, 7:30 p.m. and join the Pickaway Flyers and make plans to join us all Aug. 24 for the corn roast and fly-in.

I know you're all interested in our progress with General Telephone on our phone booth. I spoke with Mr. Anderson of General Telephone Thursday and he seemed very willing to help us solve our problem so I'll reserve further comment until the sun rises in the east in a couple of moons.

Only one fledgling aviator soloed this week and that was our striving animal doctor Brooks Carter. Brooks did, alone and unassisted, amid the fingering of rosaries and gospel singing of his instructor, Gene Walker, depart the protective asphalt of Pickaway Mini International and soar among the turkey buzzards and sweet vapors of the pulp mill. But as the ole chinese philosopher, Doctor Ima Goofee once said, "When you're up to your waist in alligators, drink very hard. Remember, you want to drain the swamp."

See you next week.

Defiance Woman Wins $300,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Although Irene Gray of Defiance, Ohio said she was not nervous about winning $300,000 in the Ohio Lottery Thursday, she said she can use the money.

The 66-year-old widow is the mother of four children and the grandmother of 13. Mrs. Gray, who works in a nursing home, said she might spend some of the prize money to travel, something she has never had a chance to do before.

The $30,000 winner in the Buckeye 300 drawing was Robert J. Johnson, Caldwell, Ohio.

The four $15,000 winners were William E. Floyd, Indianapolis; Clarence Hendricks, Stow, Ohio; Loran F. Howard, East Liverpool, Ohio, and Charles G. Walouke, Cleveland.

Randy Watkins Attends Ohio Youth Corps

Randy Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins, Wintergreen Hills, was a member of the 1975 Ohio Youth

Conservation Corps. held June 21-July 18 at the Lake Hope Environmental Resources Center in Zaleski State Forest, Vinton County.

A Logan Elm High School junior, Watkins was among 60 other young people attending the four-week camp sponsored by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

The work, in an outdoor atmosphere, included trail construction, improvement of wildlife habitat, the beauty of the park and general preserving and conserving of the area in and around the Zaleski State Forest.

The youth were divided into approximately six working groups with each group assigned to a specified project for a particular length of time and then rotated projects.

During the weekends, nights were spent camping out under the stars. Canoeing, horseback riding and taking field trips were part of the day activities.

"I feel I was most benefitted by the learning experiences," Randy said, "I not only learned a lot about Ohio's natural environment, I also learned a lot about the people, the kids and the staff, it was fantastic."

"I really enjoyed my stay at camp and hope to return next year," he concluded.

Bridge Becomes National Landmark

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — After 109 years spanning the Ohio River, the Suspension Bridge connecting Cincinnati with Covington, Ky. is being designated a national landmark, according to Mrs. Eldred Melton, executive director of the Kentucky Heritage Commission.

"We're very pleased that it is finally being recognized for what it is: a truly significant part of our country's heritage," she said.

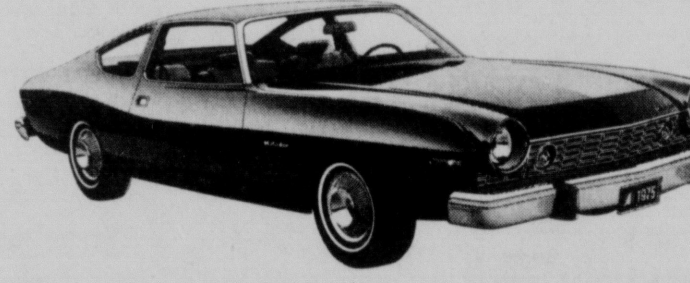

The 1,057-foot span was the longest such bridge in the world for 17 years until the construction of the Brooklyn Bridge in 1883. Kentucky now owns the bridge.

AT SIDEWALK SALE—The Morning Star Gospel Revue will perform several times during the Ashville Sidewalk Sale Wednesday, Aug. 20. Members of the group, all Teays Valley High School students, are David Rainey, seated, Linda Leatherwood and Marla Cook, and, in the back from the left, Charles Morrison, Brad Sherman, and Bob Leatherwood. Most merchants will have reduced items for sale, and there will be numerous garden and produce stands. The sale will last from 10:30 a.m. to 7:30 p.m. Prize drawings are scheduled for 1, 4, and 7 p.m.

Sohio Shifts Price Setup

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Competition has forced down the price of gasoline one cent per gallon at company-operated stations, but distillate fuel prices were up the same amount, Standard Oil of Ohio has announced.

Both changes were effective today. The cut applied to wholesale prices to dealers as well as to retail prices at company-operated stations.

The one-cent increase on distillates applied to such products as heating oil and diesel fuel, a spokesman said.

For gasoline, the new prices at company stations in Ohio were 59.9 cents per gallon for regular and unleaded, and 63.9 cents per gallon for premium.

Prize Money Offered In Singing Contest

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Well—the Girls Softball League has completed its first season of play and seems to have been quite successful—according to the crowds and the enthusiasm generated among the youngsters who participated.

Of course there were some things that didn't please some people but that is to be expected in anything you do. They may have made some mistakes but these will be overcome with a little experience and some additional help.

The unfortunate part of getting something like this in operation is that there are usually "Too many Chiefs and not enough Indians." Then you run into the critics, a little constructive criticism is a good thing in our opinion, but to criticize just for the sake of criticism is uncalled for in our book.

Some people put a lot of work and time into making this thing go and they deserve a lot of credit. We won't try to name them because we are sure to forget someone, and everyone who was in on the thing knows who we are talking about anyway.

We understand that the league officials are already making plans for next year and will divide the league into three age groups. We are all for this as it will have the girls competing against players their own age instead of having a big age spread which makes it touch on the little ones.

So when next year rolls around maybe some of the parents and friends, who weren't involved this year, will get into it and make it a little easier on everyone.

We received a letter this week pertaining to this girls program and we will finish our Dillies with it as we feel it has a whole lot to say about the league and our community and people.

Here is the complete letter:

Dear Editor:

We played in the Circleville Girls Softball Tournament this past weekend at Ted Lewis Park.

We would like to thank all those who made the weekend a success, especially Carole and Jim Ballou. All the people worked hard and we think the people of Circleville should be proud of the girls and parents who participated. We were treated with utmost respect by most that attended the games.

The umpires did a beautiful job, especially John Lewis, Sara Merrill, Jim Ballou and several others who we do not know their names. The games were kept running smooth and without much difficulty.

So thanks again and we wish the Circleville Girls Softball Association great success in the future.

Thank you,

Karen Garrett, Velma McNicholas,
Alice Oates, Donna Zeimer
Stoutsville Major Girls
And Stoutsville
Minor Girls

Our "fearless forecast — We have a hunch that Larry Hinson just might win some in the PGA.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

TRI COUNTY
LITTLE LEAGUE MINORS
Stoutsville 11,
Saltcreek 2

Mike Scanlan and Phil Minor combined to hurl the win that eliminated Saltcreek from the double elimination County Tournament at Pickaway Twp. School and gave Stoutsville a berth in Saturday's semi finals.

Kevin O'Hara and Darrell Scott shared the mound for the losers.

Brian Johnson led Stoutsville with a triple and two singles, Eric Longberry and Phil Minor each belted a double, P. D. Smith rapped three singles, Shawn Kelly smacked a pair of one-baggers while Jay Fausnaugh, Mike Scanlan, Tiny Chattos and Lynn Hicks each added a single.

Todd Clifton, Jeff Cline and Brent Whitesed each blasted two singles for Saltcreek while Darrin Hunt, Tom Welch and Jim Fletcher each added a single.

Saturday's semi finals will find Pickaway H & J Farms meeting Groveport at 1 p.m. Both teams are unbeaten in the tournament. At 3 p.m. Stoutsville, with one loss, will go against the loser of the 1 p.m. contest.

The championship game will be played at 1 p.m. Sunday with a second game set for 3 p.m. if the team in the losers bracket wins the first game.

Admission to the games is free and a refreshment stand will be open for the hungry fans. All proceeds from the refreshments will help to pay the cost of the new diamond that has been built at Pickaway Twp.

Glen Cameron Bengals Middle Linebacker

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers defied the odds last year by winning the Super Bowl with an untested rookie middle linebacker.

The Cincinnati Bengals are gambling high stakes in 1975 for the same returns.

"We think Glen Cameron is our middle linebacker," said Bengals coach Paul Brown, who surprised National Football League observers last January by making the unheralded University of Florida standout Cincinnati's No. 1 draft choice.

Cameron has been awarded the job after less than a week of Bengals training camp at Wilmington College.

The 6-foot-2, 230-pounder is breaking into pro football the hard way. Last week, he started for the College All-Stars against Pittsburgh as right linebacker. This week, Cameron will be starting at middle linebacker when the Bengals travel to his home state Saturday to face the Miami Dolphins. Brown has decided he wants to see Cameron and fellow rookie Marvin Cobb under fire.

"We want them to make their mistakes now and get a good taste of the game," said Brown. The decision to thrust Cameron into the middle immediately has raised a few eyebrows around the league.

The Steelers did it last year with rookie Jack Lambert of Kent State and got away with it.

Brown is confident Cameron is the man in the Bengals future.

Brown feels Cincinnati's fortunes ride on "finding a couple key people to fill our needs." He believes that Cameron, a weightlifting fanatic, will step into the void left by last year's trade of All-Pro Bill Bergey.

Rated exceptionally strong on pass coverage-one of Bergey's weaknesses-Cameron is described by Brown as possibly "the fastest linebacker coming out of the draft."

CHS Sets Physicals For Girl Athletes

All Circleville High School girls who plan to participate in any high school sport are required to get a free physical examination 7 p.m. Thursday at the office of Dr. Myers, Northridge Road.

Any girl who fails to take advantage of the free physical must get an examination at her own expense before she can compete in sports.

Reds Look Ahead To Playoffs

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — If August seems a little early to be looking ahead to the baseball playoffs, the Cincinnati Reds can be forgiven. The streaking National League Western Division leaders, winners of five of six games on their just-completed West Coast swing, have opened up the biggest lead in the club's 100-year history.

Going into Friday night's games, Cincinnati leads the Los Angeles Dodgers by 16 1-2 games and could clinch the division title as early as the first week in September. The magic number currently stands at 34.

Manager Sparky Anderson plans to keep his regulars sharp and solidify a five-man pitching rotation in the remaining months of the season as well as keep the team from growing

Yankees Best Tribe; Win Tilt 6-3

CLEVELAND (AP) — Right now the love affair is in full bloom.

Billy Martin is happy with his Yankees.

Martin, fired last week by the Texas Rangers, has only been seven games at the helm of the team for which he once starred as a fielder.

But the club is 5-2 in that stretch and Martin likes what he's seen, including Thursday night's 6-3 American League baseball victory over the Cleveland Indians.

"My guys are hustling, playing hard, stealing bases... playing aggressive baseball. They're playing the kind of ball I like," he said with a satisfied smile.

Thursday, it was the hitting of Graig Nettles, Thurmon Munson and Sandy Alomar and the pitching of starter Doc Medich, 10-12, and fireman Sparky Lyle that snuffed the Indian winning string at four games.

The Indians grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first inning, but Nettles tied it in the fourth with his 15th homer of the season. Cleveland worked across a run in the bottom of that inning, going ahead 3-2, but a run-scoring single by Alomar in the fifth made it 3-3 and the Yankees went ahead for good on the play when centerfielder Rick Manning threw wildly to the plate and Bobby Bonds scored from first.

Bondville Victorious In Latonia Feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Leading from start to finish, Bondville took the featured sixth race at Latonia Thursday night by 1 1-2 lengths.

The winner paid $8.40, $2.80 and $2.40.

complacent.

"I have to be certain they don't start jerking around," he said, adding that after Tuesday night's 6-3 win over San Francisco, he saw some things he didn't like.

"One guy was loafing a little and another was clowning around," he said, not mentioning names. "I'm going to have a talk with them."

"After you win a pennant, everyone is gunning for you the next year anyway," Anderson warned. "Don't add to it. Don't make the other people want to beat you because you tried to show them up."

Many of the Cincinnati regulars were rested during part of the road trip just concluded, but Anderson said they will play down the stretch.

"I don't plan to rest them a whole lot during September. The stars gotta play. I want them at their sharpest," he said.

Injured lefthander Don Gullett, looked to as the Reds top pitching hope for the playoffs, should be back on the mound in about 10 days to anchor the rotation down the stretch. Gullett has been sidelined since June 16 with a broken wrist.

"He's thrown a better curve and forkball than I've ever seen him have," said Johnny Bench, who has watched Gullett throw in the bullpen.

That rotation will include Gullett, Jack Billingham, Fred Norman, Gary Nolan and Pat Darcy.

Nolan also has been resting lately after a slight slump midway in his comeback season.

"I expected this to come earlier with Gary," Anderson said. "The rest is going to do him a lot of good. He had to get away from pitching for a while to put it back together.

Norman, the only other starting lefthander, will receive a good deal of attention in the coming months as well.

"If we face Pittsburgh, I want to have Fred ready," Anderson said. "We want to throw as many lefthanders against them as we can."

Perhaps that speculation is a little premature, as Pittsburgh's lead in the NL East is not nearly as commanding as the Reds. But the Cincinnati manager can afford to sit back and think from higher atop the standings than any of his predecessors have ever been.

Baltimore Trims Detroit Tigers, 7-6

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

There's something about Detroit's Tiger Stadium that turns Baltimore's Don Baylor into—what else?—a tiger.

After going 6-for-7 in Wednesday's doubleheader sweep, the Tigers cooled Baylor off somewhat Thursday night, holding him to a single and double in five-at-bats. However, the single drove in one of six runs in the sixth inning and the double delivered the winning run in the 10th as the Orioles nipped Detroit 7-6, extending the Tigers' losing streak to 12 games, one short of the all-time club record.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox downed the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2, the Oakland A's trounced the Texas Rangers 10-1, the Kansas Royals routed the Minnesota Twins 10-2 and the Chicago White Sox defeated the California Angels 8-4.

Baylor's latest performance gave him 15 hits in his last 20 at-bats, raising his average from .259 to .287. Against the Tigers this year he is 21 for 44, including 15-for-25 in six games at Tiger Stadium.

Singles by Bobby Grich and Tommy Davis preceded Baylor's decisive double off ex-Oriole Bob Reynolds. Trailing 3-0, the Orioles scored six times with two out in the sixth, including two-run singles by Brooks Robinson and Mark Belanger. The Tigers tied it with two in the ninth on Gates Brown's pinch homer and singles by Ron LeFlore, Dan Meyer and Bill Freehan.

Despite the triumph—their fifth in a row and 19th in 25 games—the Orioles remained seven games behind Boston in the AL East.

Red Sox 4, Brewers 2

Denny Doyle and Fred Lynn drove in two runs apiece and Rick Wise pitched an eight-hitter for his eighth consecutive victory and 15th of the season.

Yankees 6, Indians 3

New York combined home runs by Greg Nettles and Thurman Munson with three Cleveland errors to post its first triumph in five tries at Cleveland Stadium this season.

A's 10, Rangers 1

Joe Rudi's grand slam and two home runs by Billy Williams backed Vida Blue's fourhit pitching and enabled the A's to remain 6 games ahead of Kansas City in the AL West. Oakland had dropped six of its previous nine starts.

"The sleeping giant just woke up," said outfielder Bill North.

White Sox 8, Angels 4

Nyls Nyman's tie-breaking two-run single in the third inning and the relief pitching of Dave Hamilton sparked the White Sox. Hamilton too over from Pete Vuckovich in the fourth and blanked the Angels on three hits the rest of the way.

Singles Matches Feature Y Tennis

Several key matches were played in the YMCA tennis tournament Thursday night at the Circleville High School courts. These set up some interesting competition for the quarter final and semi final matches next week with the finals set for Thursday.

Here are the results of the matches:

Mens Advanced Singles—David Pollock defeated Steve McGinnis, 6-0, 6-1; Roger Dresbach stopped Peter Sobataka, 6-3, 6-3; Rick Whatley topped Jeff Williams, 6-0, 6-2; Doug McClelland beat Jerry Kelley, 6-2, 6-7, 6-2.

Womens Singles—Maggie Farthing defeated Susan Crist, 6-3, 6-4; Susan Radcliff beat Mona Jarvis, 7-6, 6-4; Joyce Sobataka stopped Kathy Urban, 6-1, 6-0.

Michigan has won the Big Ten tennis championship the past eight times.

Redlands of California has won the past three NAAIA tennis tournaments and nine in the past 10 years.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Well—the Girls Softball League has completed its first season of play and seems to have been quite successful—according to the crowds and the enthusiasm generated among the youngsters who participated.

Of course there were some things that didn't please some people but that is to be expected in anything you do. They may have made some mistakes but these will be overcome with a little experience and some additional help.

The unfortunate part of getting something like this in operation is that there are usually "Too many Chiefs and not enough Indians." Then you run into the critics, a little constructive criticism is a good thing in our opinion, but to criticize just for the sake of criticism is uncalled for in our book.

Some people put a lot of work and time into making this thing go and they deserve a lot of credit. We won't try to name them because we are sure to forget someone, and everyone who was in on the thing knows who we are talking about anyway.

We understand that the league officials are already making plans for next year and will divide the league into three age groups. We are all for this as it will have the girls competing against players their own age instead of having a big age spread which makes it touch on the little ones.

So when next year rolls around maybe some of the parents and friends, who weren't involved this year, will get into it and make it a little easier on everyone.

We received a letter this week pertaining to this girls program and we will finish our Dillies with it as we feel it has a whole lot to say about the league and our community and people.

Here is the complete letter:

Dear Editor:

We played in the Circleville Girls Softball Tournament this past weekend at Ted Lewis Park.

We would like to thank all those who made the weekend a success, especially Carole and Jim Ballou. All the people worked hard and we think the people of Circleville should be proud of the girls and parents who participated. We were treated with utmost respect by most that attended the games.

The umpires did a beautiful job, especially John Lewis, Sara Merrill, Jim Ballou and several others who we do not know their names. The games were kept running smooth and without much difficulty.

So thanks again and we wish the Circleville Girls Softball Association great success in the future.

Thank you,

Karen Garrett, Velma McNicholas,
Alice Oates, Donna Zeimer
Stoutsville Major Girls
And Stoutsville

Our "fearless forecast — We have a hunch that Larry Hinson just might win some in the PGA.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

LITTLE LEAGUE MINORS
Stoutsville 11,
Saltcreek 2

Mike Scanlan and Phil Minor combined to hurl the win that eliminated Saltcreek from the double elimination County Tournament at Pickaway Twp. School and gave Stoutsville a berth in Saturday's semi finals.

Kevin O'Hara and Darrell Scott shared the mound for the losers.

Brian Johnson led Stoutsville with a triple and two singles, Eric Longberry and Phil Minor each belted a double, P. D. Smith rapped three singles, Shawn Kelly smacked a pair of one-baggers while Jay Fausnaugh, Mike Scanlan, Tiny Chattos and Lynn Hicks each added a single.

Todd Clifton, Jeff Cline and Brent Whitesed each blasted two singles for Saltcreek while Darrin Hunt, Tom Welch and Jim Fletcher each added a single.

Saturday's semi finals will find Pickaway H & J Farms meeting Groveport at 1 p.m. Both teams are unbeaten in the tournament. At 3 p.m. Stoutsville, with one loss, will go against the loser of the 1 p.m. contest.

The championship game will be played at 1 p.m. Sunday with a second game set for 3 p.m. if the team in the losers bracket wins the first game.

Admission to the games is free and a refreshment stand will be open for the hungry fans. All proceeds from the refreshments will help to pay the cost of the new diamond that has been built at Pickaway Twp.

Glen Cameron Bengals Middle Linebacker

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers defied the odds last year by winning the Super Bowl with an untested rookie middle linebacker.

The Cincinnati Bengals are gambling high stakes in 1975 for the same returns.

"We think Glen Cameron is our middle linebacker," said Bengals coach Paul Brown, who surprised National Football League observers last January by making the unheralded University of Florida standout Cincinnati's No. 1 draft choice.

Cameron has been awarded the job after less than a week of Bengals training camp at Wilmington College.

The 6-foot-2, 230-pounder is breaking into pro football the hard way. Last week, he started for the College All-Stars against Pittsburgh as right linebacker. This week, Cameron will be starting at middle linebacker when the Bengals travel to his home state Saturday to face the Miami Dolphins.

Brown has decided he wants to see Cameron and fellow rookie Marvin Cobb under fire.

"We want them to make their mistakes now and get a good taste of the game," said Brown.

The decision to thrust Cameron into the middle immediately has raised a few eyebrows around the league.

The Steelers did it last year with rookie Jack Lambert of Kent State and got away with it.

Brown is confident Cameron is the man in the Bengals future.

Brown feels Cincinnati's fortunes ride on "finding a couple key people to fill our needs." He believes that Cameron, a weightlifting fanatic, will step into the void left by last year's trade of All-Pro Bill Bergey.

Rated exceptionally strong on pass coverage—one of Bergey's weaknesses—Cameron is described by Brown as possibly "the fastest linebacker coming out of the draft."

Unknowns Grab Lead In PGA

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Are you aware," a reporter asked Jack Nicklaus as the world's greatest golfer savored his even par 70 in the opening round of the PGA Tournament, "that you are trailing such household names as Benson, Wamplinger and Dougherty?"

"Who?" Jack asked. "I know Wamplinger, but the others—how do you spell that last name?"

Nicklaus' consternation was generally shared as the pros' big family championship—one of the game's Big Four—moved into the second round behind a phalanx of the most implausible pace-setters imaginable.

Oldsters and rookies, the infirm and the down-and-out are on top, kicking divots in the faces of golf's aristocrats—Nicklaus, Weiskopf, Trevino, Palmer and Player.

The first round leader is a slim Oklahoman, one Mark Hayes, 26, playing his second year on the tour and in his first PGA, his bags carried by a man with a broken arm and a Masters degree in business.

Hayes shot 67, three under par over the back-breaking, 7,180-yard Firestone course. "It's too soon to get excited about leading this tour-namment," he said nervously.

Tied for second with 68 were Bob Benson, 35, a club pro from Easton, Conn., who operates a couple of bowling alleys on the side, and Larry Hinson, a gaunt young man with a withered left arm whose fortunes of late have been so depressing he was considering a different career.

"It's been awful the last couple of years," Hinson, a seven-year tour player from Kings Mountain, N.C., said. "I've been tempted to look for something else to do."

Benson's main claim to fame is that as a teen-age assistant pro in Palm Beach, Fla., he gave lessons to the Kennedys, correcting a hook of the late President John Kennedy.

Only four other players managed to break par. They included a pair of grizzled veterans, Fred Wamplinger, 51, who hasn't played the tour in 15 years, and Bill Casper, 44, a two-time Open champion who has been devoting more time to his 7,000 fruit trees in Utah than to golf.

Wamplinger and Casper were tied at 69 with Bob Wynn of Santa Clara, Calif., a free-wheeling, 35-year-old tour veteran, and Ed Dougherty, a mustachioed Pennsylvanian.

When Dougherty applied to the PGA

for membership, the application asked for "Achievements." Dougherty, 27, wrote "none." His biggest thrill came last week-end at the Westchester Classic, he said, when he looked up to see his name on the leader board.

"I had just made a birdie," he said. "But right after that I bogeyed. By the time they got to the 'y' on the leader board they were taking down the 'D.'"

It was not until the first day standings got down to the par 70s that names of the advance favorites began to show up.

Nicklaus was tied at that figure with eight others, among them Tom Weiskopf and British Open champion Tom Watson. The others were Al Geiberger, who won the PGA on this same course in 1966; former champion Ray Floyd; 51-year-old Art Wall, Bruce Devlin, long-hitting Jim Dent and Mike Morley, one of the plugging tour brigade.

Gary Player, seeking his third PGA crown, shot 72. Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer had 73s. Johnny Miller, pro golf's Player of the Year in 1974, skied to a 78 and was so disgruntled that he hinted he might take the next plane home to San Francisco.

"I am playing awful. I am tired," Miller said. "I can putt for birdies but I can't putt for pars. It's not my nature. I didn't make a putt all day over three feet. It is very depressing."

Nicklaus and Weiskopf, who most observers predict will slug it out for the title, finished their rounds on a different note.

Nicklaus found traps on two of the last four holes—15 and 18—and bogeyed them. "It was frustrating," he said. "I got as little out of my round as I could get. I played much better than I scored. The only satisfaction is that I know I can go out Friday and play a better round."

Weiskopf birdied the last three holes, wedging a shot to within two feet of the cup on 16, sinking a 16-footer on 17 and slashing a four-iron out of a fairway.

"It looked like I was going out of the tournament, but I got right back in it," Weiskopf said. "It's that kind of course. Don't get discouraged. Anything can happen."

Hayes produced the most brilliant round. After bogeying the par five second, he played the next 16 holes almost flawlessly with birdies at the third, seventh, eighth and 10th. He sank two putts of 30 feet.

Out of Oklahoma State and a former state amateur champion, he turned pro while serving a two-year army hitch in Fort Jackson, S.C. He picked up his caddy, Mike Thirko, in Phoenix.

"He came to me and said he was tired of working," Hayes said. "He's been with me ever since."

Wamplinger won the Los Angeles Open in 1954. A Ben Hogan prototype in a white cap, he enters the PGA "just to see old friends and play as well as I can."

Benson was the most intriguing of the leaders. A low key chap who looks to be a young George Gobel, he has won only $511 in 13 tour tournaments this year. He became a club pro in 1959, serving in Long Meadow, Mass.; Philadelphia, Jamestown, N.Y., White Plains, N.Y. and Palm Beach, Fla.

"I saw all that money the guys were making and decided to give it a fling," Benson said, hoping this might be where the payoff begins.

Peterson, Trivisanno Tied For Golf Lead

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — "I really putted super," Jim Peterson exclaimed Thursday after he grabbed a share of the lead in the Ohio Public Links golf tournament with a two-under-par 70.

The 29-year-old Daytonian used only 27 putts and had eight one-putt greens as he posted a 54-hole total of 212 to put him into a first place tie with Gary Trivisanno of Mayfield Heights going into today's final round.

'Second-Class Cubs' Defeat Phillies, 5-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

If Mike Schmidt had his way, he'd probably take back what he said last winter about the Chicago Cubs.

But it's too late now. Philadelphia's third baseman classified the Cubs as a second-class citizens in the National League East—and Chicago has made the Phillies pay for it this summer.

"Schmidt's remark rubbed us the wrong way," said Rick Reuschel after pitching the Cubs to a 5-3 victory over the Phillies Thursday night. "Last winter Schmidt said that for the Phillies to win the division, they had to beat teams like the Cubs."

"I don't think Philadelphia is that much better than they can classify us that way. It gave us a little extra incentive against these guys."

The victory was Chicago's eighth in 12 games with the Phillies and prevented them from gaining ground on the East-leading Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates were beaten 6-1 by the Houston Astros and maintained a four-game edge in baseball's most competitive race.

In the only other National League game, the New York Mets blanked the Montreal Expos 7-0.

Andre Thornton's three-run homer in the eighth inning helped the Cubs beat the Phillies. Jose Cardenal triggered Chicago's winning rally with a two-out double and Jerry Morales was intentionally walked before Thornton ripped his sixth homer against the left field pole off Larry Christenson, 6-3, giving the Cubs a 4-1 lead.

Reuschel, 8-12, then gave up a two-run homer to Dick Allen in the bottom of the inning and a double to Jay Johnstone before shutting the door on the Phillies.

Astros 6, Pirates 1
Greg Gross cracked two doubles and knocked in two runs and Dave Roberts fired a three-hitter to lead Houston past Pittsburgh. Gross doubled and scored in the first inning and then smashed a two-bagger for two runs off reliever Ramon Hernandez in the Astros' three-run sixth. The Astros supported Roberts, 7-12, with a nine-hit attack against loser Bruce Kison, 9-8.

Mets 7, Expos 0
Tom Seaver pitched a three-hitter and Mike Phillips capped a five-run rally with a three-run double in New York's victory over Montreal. It was the 15th victory for Seaver and the

Worthington And Ashley Square Off

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Worthington and Ashley, the remaining undefeated teams, were to meet today after the Ohio American Legion baseball tournament finally got moving full steam under clear skies.

The two squads advanced to the winners' bracket showdown by posting victories Thursday. Worthington downed Portsmouth 5-3 and Ashley edged Archbold 5-4.

In other action, Portsmouth whipped Ashland 6-1, Massillon trimmed Kent 2-1, and then beat Ashland 8-4, Euclid scored a pair of victories over Maynard, 8-1, and Archbold, 4-2; Piqua trimmed Ashtabula 8-7, and Cincinnati routed Lancaster 14-7.

Suffering their second losses in the tournament and eliminated Thursday were Maynard, Kent, Ashtabula, Lancaster, Archbold and Ashland. That left seven teams in the tournament.

Also on tap today were these losers' bracket games: Piqua vs. Portsmouth, Euclid vs. Massillon and Cincinnati vs. the loser of the Worthington-Ashley contest.

The four survivors of today's action will advance to the semifinals Saturday.

A full schedule of games was played Thursday after many games were delayed earlier in the week because of rain.

Andretti Goes After Point Lead

LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Mario Andretti can take over the Formula 5000 points lead Sunday if he wins the $63,850 Buckeye Cup and No. 1 Brian Redman runs afoul of more bad luck.

The Italian-born Andretti, now living in Nazareth, Pa., is running second with 77 points to 99 for Redman as the road racing series reaches Mid-Ohio this weekend.

Andretti, who drives a Lola-Chevrolet, narrowed the gap, picking up 36 points in his victory at Elkart Lake, Wis., two weeks ago. Redman had mechanical problems and struggled to an eighth-place finish.

Unknowns Grab Lead In PGA

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Are you aware," a reporter asked Jack Nicklaus as the world's greatest golfer savored his even par 70 in the opening round of the PGA Tournament, "that you are trailing such household names as Benson, Wampler and Dougherty?"

"Who?" Jack asked. "I know Wampler, but the others—how do you spell that last name?"

Nicklaus' consternation was generally shared as the pros' big family championship—one of the game's Big Four—moved into the second round behind a phalanx of the most implausible pace-setters imaginable.

Oldsters and rookies, the infirm and the insecure, the downtrodden and the down-and-out are on top, kicking divots in the faces of golf's aristocrats—Nicklaus, Weiskopf, Trevino, Palmer and Player.

The first round leader is a slim Oklahoman, one Mark Hayes, 26, playing his second year on the tour and in his first PGA, his bags carried by a man with a broken arm and a Masters degree in business.

Hayes shot 67, three under par over the back-breaking, 7,180-yard Firestone course. "It's too soon to get excited about leading this tour-namment," he said nervously.

Tied for second with 68 were Bob Benson, 35, a club pro from Easton, Conn., who operates a couple of bowling alleys on the side, and Larry Hinson, a gaunt young man with a withered left arm whose fortunes of late have been so depressing he was considering a different career.

"It's been awful the last couple of years," Hinson, a seven-year tour player from Kings Mountain, N.C., said. "I've been tempted to look for something else to do."

Benson's main claim to fame is that as a teen-age assistant pro in Palm Beach, Fla., he gave lessons to the Kennedys, correcting a hook of the late President John Kennedy.

Only four other players managed to break par. They included a pair of grizzled veterans, Fred Wampler, 51, who hasn't played the tour in 15 years, and Bill Casper, 44, a two-time Open champion who has been devoting more time to his 7,000 fruit trees in Utah than to golf.

Wampler and Casper were tied at 69 with Bob Wynn of Santa Clara, Calif., a freewheeling, 35-year-old tour veteran, and Ed Dougherty, a mustachioed Pennsylvanian.

When Dougherty applied to the PGA

for membership, the application asked for "Achievements." Dougherty, 27, wrote "none." His biggest thrill came last week-end at the Westchester Classic, he said, when he looked up to see his name on the leader board.

"I had just made a birdie," he said. "But right after that I bogeyed. By the time they got to the 'y' on the leader board they were taking down the 'D.'"

It was not until the first day standings got down to the par 70s that names of the advance favorites began to show up.

Nicklaus was tied at that figure with eight others, among them Tom Weiskopf and British Open champion Tom Watson. The others were Al Geiberger, who won the PGA on this same course in 1966; former champion Ray Floyd; 51-year-old Art Wall, Bruce Devlin, long-hitting Jim Dent and Mike Morley, one of the plugging tour brigade.

Gary Player, seeking his third PGA crown, shot 72. Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer had 73s. Johnny Miller, pro golf's Player of the Year in 1974, skied to a 78 and was so disgruntled that he hinted he might take the next plane home to San Francisco.

"I am playing awful. I am tired," Miller said. "I can putt for birdies but I can't putt for pars. It's not my nature. I didn't make a putt all day over three feet. It is very depressing."

Nicklaus and Weiskopf, who most observers predict will slug it out for the title, finished their rounds on a different note.

Nicklaus found traps on two of the last four holes—15 and 18—and bogeyed them. "It was frustrating," he said. "I got as little out of my round as I could get. I played much better than I scored. The only satisfaction is that I know I can go out Friday and play a better round."

Weiskopf birdied the last three holes, wedging a shot to within two feet of the cup on 16, sinking a 16-footer on 17 and slashing a four-iron out of a fairway.

"It looked like I was going out of the tournament, but I got right back in it," Weiskopf said. "It's that kind of course. Don't get discouraged. Anything can happen."

Hayes produced the most brilliant round. After bogeying the par five second, he played the next 16 holes almost flawlessly with birdies at the third, seventh, eighth and 10th. He sank two putts for 30 feet.

Out of Oklahoma State and a former state amateur champion, he turned pro while serving a two-year army hitch in Fort Jackson, S.C. He picked up his caddy, Mike Thirko, in Phoenix.

"He came to me and said he was tired of working," Hayes said. "He's been with me ever since."

Wampler won the Los Angeles Open in 1954. A Ben Hogan prototype in a white cap, he enters the PGA "just to see old friends and play as well as I can."

Benson was the most intriguing of the leaders. A low key chap who looks to be a young George Gobel, he has won only $511 in 13 tour tournaments this year. He became a club pro in 1959, serving in Long Meadow, Mass.; Philadelphia, Jamestown, N.Y., White Plains, N.Y. and Palm Beach, Fla.

"I saw all that money the guys were making and decided to give it a fling," Benson said, hoping this might be where the payoff begins.

Peterson, Trivisanno Tied For Golf Lead

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — "I really putted super," Jim Peterson exclaimed Thursday after he grabbed a share of the lead in the Ohio Public Links golf tournament with a two-under-par 70.

The 29-year-old Daytonian used only 27 putts and had eight one-putt greens as he posted a 54-hole total of 212 to put him into a first place tie with Gary Trivisanno of Mayfield Heights going into today's final round.

'Second-Class Cubs' Defeat Phillies, 5-3

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

If Mike Schmidt had his way, he'd probably take back what he said last winter about the Chicago Cubs.

But it's too late now. Philadelphia's third baseman classified the Cubs as a second-class citizens in the National League East—and Chicago has made the Phillies pay for it this summer.

"Schmidt's remark rubbed us the wrong way," said Rick Reuschel after pitching the Cubs to a 5-3 victory over the Phillies Thursday night. "Last winter Schmidt said that for the Phillies to win the division, they had to beat teams like the Cubs."

"I don't think Philadelphia is that much better than they can classify us that way. It gave us a little extra incentive against these guys."

The victory was Chicago's eighth in 12 games with the Phillies and prevented them from gaining ground on the East-leading Pittsburgh Pirates. The Pirates were beaten 6-1 by the Houston Astros and maintained a four-game edge in baseball's most competitive race.

In the only other National League game, the New York Mets blanked the Montreal Expos 7-0.

Andre Thornton's three-run homer in the eighth inning helped the Cubs beat the Phillies. Jose Cardenal triggered Chicago's winning rally with a two-out double and Jerry Morales was intentionally walked before Thornton ripped his sixth homer against the left field foul pole off Larry Christenson, 6-3, giving the Cubs a 4-1 lead.

Reuschel, 8-12, then gave up a two-run homer to Dick Allen in the bottom of the inning and a double to Jay Johnstone before shutting the door on the Phillies.

Astros 6, Pirates 1
Greg Gross cracked two doubles and knocked in two runs and Dave Roberts fired a three-hitter to lead Houston past Pittsburgh. Gross doubled and scored in the first inning and then smashed a two-bagger for two runs off reliever Ramon Hernandez in the Astros' three-run sixth. The Astros supported Roberts, 7-12, with a nine-hit attack against loser Bruce Kison, 9-8.

Mets 7, Expos 0
Tom Seaver pitched a three-hitter and Mike Phillips capped a five-run rally with a three-run double in New York's victory over Montreal. It was the 15th victory for Seaver and the

Worthington And Ashley Square Off

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Worthington and Ashley, the remaining undefeated teams, were to meet today after the Ohio American Legion baseball tournament finally got moving full steam under clear skies.

The two squads advanced to the winners' bracket showdown by posting victories Thursday. Worthington downed Portsmouth 5-3 and Ashley edged Archbold 5-4.

In other action, Portsmouth whipped Ashland 6-1, Massillon trimmed Kent 2-1, and then beat Ashland 8-4. Euclid scored a pair of victories over Maynard, 8-1, and Archbold, 4-2; Piqua trimmed Ashtabula 8-7, and Cincinnati routed Lancaster 14-7.

Suffering their second losses in the tournament and eliminated Thursday were Maynard, Kent, Ashtabula, Lancaster, Archbold and Ashland. That left seven teams in the tournament.

Also on tap today were these losers' bracket games: Piqua vs. Portsmouth, Euclid vs. Massillon and Cincinnati vs. the loser of the Worthington-Ashley contest.

The four survivors of today's action will advance to the semifinals Saturday.

A full schedule of games was played Thursday after many games were delayed earlier in the week because of rain.

Andretti Goes After Point Lead

LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Mario Andretti can take over the Formula 5000 points lead Sunday if he wins the $63,850 Buckeye Cup and No. 1 Brian Redman runs afoul of more bad luck.

The Italian-born Andretti, now living in Nazareth, Pa., is running second with 77 points to 99 for Redman as the road racing series reaches Mid-Ohio this weekend.

Andretti, who drives a Lola-Chevrolet, narrowed the gap, picking up 36 points in his victory at Elkart Lake, Wis., two weeks ago. Redman had mechanical problems and struggled to an eighth-place finish.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Not much planetary help here, so day is practically your own to mold. Try to conclude long-term agreements if any are pending. Stars are generous in that respect.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Avoid overtaxing yourself — a tendency now. Temper your ambitions and desires with common sense.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may run into some complex situations. Aim to solve matters with as little red tape and fuss as possible. And this is where the ingenious Gemini really shines!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Lunar influences warn against hasty decisions and expressing opinions before all facts are in or all factors understood. Day has fine potential otherwise.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Check and re-check before you assume something will be a good risk. In purchases, sound for hidden values — or lack of them.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Slow down to gather forces more compactly to conduct activities more adroitly. Don't deviate from preplanned undertakings for no good reason, however.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You grasp ideas easily, see benefits to be gained where others only note the obstacles. Use your instincts NOW — and go forward.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Many demands will be made on your time and effort. There won't be an easy way to handle but, with your own optimism, originality and independence of thought, you'll find YOUR way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Don't negate past fine efforts through thoughtlessness. Attend to all affairs in a quiet, dispassionate manner. Personal relationships should prove rewarding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't shirk responsibility. Accept its challenge. Especially now, when a person in authority has already become intrigued with your potentials.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your public relations accented now, with special emphasis on responses to your efforts and presentation of ideas. Curb any tendency toward aggressiveness. Win your way through tact and diplomacy.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A step in the right direction can be accelerated later when footing is surer. If you do get a wrong start, switch tactics or change pace. You CAN make it!
YOU BORN TODAY are unusually independent and self-reliant; imaginative, competent in all your endeavors and magnetic of personality. As an orator; lecturer or theatrical performer, your influence could be spellbinding. You should have some form of art as an avocation if you do not choose it as a lifework — where you could succeed as a writer, painter, designer or illustrator. You have a great love of poetry but may eschew it as a career because it is not lucrative enough to bring you the luxuries you crave. You have great inner reserves of strength and are extremely courageous in the face of difficulties. Birthdate of: Izaak Walton, sportsman, writer; John Dryden, Eng. poet.

Mother Liquor Is Sugar Term

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't mother's milk, tiger's milk, or the fabled milk of human kindness. In the sugar industry "mother liquor" is the syrup remaining after a quantity of sugar syrup has been processed and about one half of the sugar forms crystals. Then the whole amount is dropped and the "mother liquor" spun off in a centrifuge. This first result produces the whitest sugar.

Excellent Tad, Bill Coy Split Scioto Purse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Excellent Tad and Bill Coy won the two divisions of the $9,500 Scarlet and Gray trot at Scioto Downs Thursday night.

Excellent Tad led all the way in winning the first division race, touring the mile in 2:03, and paid $2.80, $2.60 and $2.20.

Bill Coy came from third place at the three-quarter pole to nudge out Dottie Coalton at the wire. He trotted the mile in 2:04 2-5 and returned $5, $3 and $2.80. The $-4 daily double combination of Scotch Miracle and Jetline A was worth $237.80.

A crowd of 5,077 wagered $278,861.

Bengals Coach Sidelined

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Chuck Weber, defensive coach for the Cincinnati Bengals, will be sidelined at least four weeks after undergoing gall stone surgery Thursday at Christ Hospital in Cincinnati.

Weber, who has coached the Bengals defensive backs since 1970, is being replaced temporarily by offensive backfield coach Jack Donaldson. Mike Brown, son of head coach Paul Brown, has taken over Donaldson's spot until Weber recovers.

Weber is expected to remain hospitalized about a week.

Catch Me A Beau Wins Feature

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — With a late drive in the stretch, Catch Me A Beau caught Mr. Spunky Thursday to win the featured eighth race at River Downs by a half-length.

Winning for the second time in five starts, Catch Me A Beau paid $11.20, $6.40 and $3.60.

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Not much planetary help here, so day is practically your own to mold. Try to conclude long-term agreements if any are pending. Stars are generous in that respect.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Avoid overtaxing yourself — a tendency now. Temper your ambitions and desires with common sense.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may run into some complex situations. Aim to solve matters with as little red tape and fuss as possible. And this is where the ingenious Gemini really shines!

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Lunar influences warn against hasty decisions and expressing opinions before all facts are in or all factors understood. Day has fine potential otherwise.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Check and re-check before you assume something will be a good risk. In purchases, sound for hidden values — or lack of them.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Slow down to gather forces more compactly to conduct activities more adroitly. Don't deviate from preplanned undertakings for no good reason, however.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): You grasp ideas easily, see benefits to be gained where others only note the obstacles. Use your instincts NOW — and go forward.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Many demands will be made on your time and effort. There won't be an easy way to handle but, with your own optimism, originality and independence of thought, you'll find YOUR way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Don't negate past fine efforts through thoughtlessness. Attend to all affairs in a quiet, dispassionate manner. Personal relationships should prove rewarding.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't shirk responsibility. Accept its challenge. Especially now, when a person in authority has already become intrigued with your potentials.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Your public relations accented now, with special emphasis on responses to your efforts and presentation of ideas. Curb any tendency toward aggressiveness. Win your way through tact and diplomacy. PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A step in the right direction can be accelerated later when footing is surer. If you do get a wrong start, switch tactics or change pace. You CAN make it!

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually independent and self-reliant; imaginative, competent in all your endeavors and magnetic of personality. As an orator, lecturer or theatrical performer, your influence could be spellbinding. You should have some form of art as an avocation if you do not choose it as a lifework — where you could succeed as a writer, painter, designer or illustrator. You have a great love of poetry but may eschew it as a career because it is not lucrative enough to bring you the luxuries you crave. You have great inner reserves of strength and are extremely courageous in the face of difficulties. Birthdate of: Izaak Walton, sportsman, writer; John Dryden, Eng. poet.

Mother Liquor Is Sugar Term

NEW YORK (AP) — It isn't mother's milk, tiger's milk, or the fabled milk of human kindness. In the sugar industry "mother liquor" is the syrup remaining after a quantity of sugar syrup has been processed and about one half of the sugar forms crystals. Then the whole amount is dropped and the "mother liquor" spun off in a centrifuge. This first result produces the whitest sugar.

Excellent Tad, Bill Coy Split Scioto Purse

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Excellent Tad and Bill Coy won the two divisions of the $9,500 Scarlet and Gray trot at Scioto Downs Thursday night.

Excellent Tad led all the way in winning the first division race, touring the mile in 2:03, and paid $2.80, $2.60 and $2.20.

Bill Coy came from third place at the three-quarter pole to nudge out Dottie Coaltown at the wire. He trotted the mile in 2:04 2-5 and returned $5, $3 and $2.80.

The 8-4 daily double combination of Scotch Miracle and Jetline A was worth $237.80.

A crowd of 5,077 wagered $278,861.

Pollution Worse In Rural Areas?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Smog produced in Ohio's larger cities often pollutes the air for longer periods of time in surrounding smaller cities and rural areas, a study by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) shows.

The study, which chiefly examined the level of pollutants released in the air by car exhaust, found that smog is often carried to suburbs where the smog lingers and is a threat to health. The study gathered data from June 14 to Aug. 31, 1974.

For example, smog levels (measured by the amount of oxidants in the air) over Wooster were higher and violated the federal standard longer than oxidant levels over Cleveland and the Akron-Canton area.

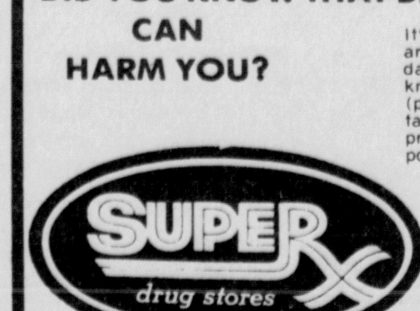

Dayton recorded average oxidant levels of .13, exceeding for 114 hours the federal standard of .08 parts per million. But in Wooster the average reading was .17 and violated federal standards for 262 hours.

Cincinnati had a reading of .18, higher than the federal standard for 54 hours. Wilmington and rural areas under the influence of Cincinnati and Dayton had an average reading of .18 and exceeded the federal standard for 259 hours.

Oxidant levels in Columbus averaged .15 and violated the federal standard for 113 hours. But rural McConnelsville, about 75 miles southeast of Columbus, had an average reading of .16 and exceeded the federal standard for 239 hours.

Heiskell, Mrs. Swank Will Represent Local Realtors

WILLIAM HEISKELL

PEGGY SWANK

William D. Heiskell Jr. of W. D. Heiskell and Son Realtors has been selected as the nominee of the Pickaway County Board of Realtors for Ohio Realtor of the Year and Peggy Swank, associated with realtor Merle Swank, is the nominee for Ohio Realtor Associate of the year.

Heiskell, as the local board nominee, will be a guest of the Ohio Association of Realtors during its convention. He will be competing with other realtors across the state for the Ohio Realtor of the Year, who will represent Ohio at the National Association of Realtors convention which will be held in November in San Francisco, Calif.

Basis for selection includes civic activities, board activities, business experience and conduct, and state association activities.

He is a member of the Circleville

Rotary Club, Elks Lodge, American Legion, and the Ohio State University Alumni Association. Heiskell is a 30 degree Mason and a director of the First National Bank. He is a member of Community United Methodist Church.

Heiskell served two years as president of the Pickaway County Board of Realtors, two years as secretary-treasurer, and worked on the by-laws committee.

He was licensed as a salesman in 1948 and as a broker in 1951. He graduated from Ohio State University in 1949 with a B.S. Degree in business administration and a minor in real estate.

Heiskell has attended numerous seminars on appraisals and various topics related to the real estate business.

Mrs. Swank was selected as the nominee for Realtor Associate of the Year for her participation in civic, and local and state association activities, according to Marguerite Bellamy, president of the Pickaway County Board of Realtors.

Besides serving as a Sunday School teacher at the Church of the Nazarene for 20 years, she has been the Young Adult advisor for two years, Bible school worker for 15 years, volunteer for United Appeals and the Community Fund, a member of a garden club, held offices in the PTO for over 20 years, and worked two summers for the Head Start program.

Mrs. Swank received her real estate license in 1966 and has since worked as a sales lady and secretary for Swank Realty.

She is also active in the local, state, and national association of Realtors. She attends local meetings regularly and last year was present at the State Convention in Cleveland.

She has served on the educational committee for three years, and was appointed May, 1975, by the Ohio Realtors Association to the Study and Revision Sub-Committee.

Mrs. Swank will receive her B.S. Degree in education from Ohio University in 1976, and plans to enter Ohio State University to complete requirements for a Master's degree in real estate. She plans to teach Real Estate at the college level.

Senate . . .

burning industries to convert to coal in an effort to conserve rapidly declining supplies of natural gas.

The bill authorizes tax incentives to boost southeast Ohio as the site for a new federally subsidized Coalcon plant which will seek new technology to convert coal into gas, among other things.

Ohio is among several states competing for the $400 million facility which reportedly would create about 1,400 new jobs at the outset. Maloney said southeast Ohio has six of the 16 sites under consideration by the federal government.

Some other features of the bill, as outlined by Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, the chief Senate sponsor:

—Takeover by ERDA of the powers and functions of the Energy Emergency Commission, with the exception of its authority to declare an energy emergency, which would be transferred to the governor. The commission, created in temporary law, was to go out of existence Jan. 1, 1976, anyway.

—Takeover by ERDA of the powers and functions of the old Ohio Development Center, created under the previous administration but vetoed out of existence last month by Rhodes. Democrats had sought earlier to have it become the new energy agency.

—Takeover by ERDA of the energy powers of the Ohio Department of Economic and Community Development.

—Elimination of language in existing law that requires the filing of various contingency plans with the secretary of state, if an energy emergency is declared.

—Deletion of a House proposal under which ERDA would have had broad hiring powers, including agents whose salaries would not have been limited by law.

—Exclusion of ERDA from the jurisdiction of the Ohio Power Siting Commission, which has to approve location of public power projects to assure that they will not harm the environment. Meshel said it was felt the commission could "militate against the activities" of the energy agency.

Jackson, reached afterward, said he opposed the legislation because he had received no assurances that giving tax abatement to the Coalcon facility would produce any results that would lower fuel costs for Ohioans. He said he also had received no mail from his constituents asking him to support the measure.

The Senate adjourned until 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday, but members were told there only will be a skeleton session that day if the House acts favorably on the energy bill.

Body Found In Big Darby

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Dr. F. W. Anderson, assistant county coroner, are continuing the investigation of a body found in Big Darby Creek, Thursday, south of Route 762 near Orient State Institute.

Dr. A. Z. Soforenko, Superintendent at O. S. I., reported an inmate missing Saturday.

Sheriff Radcliff, noting that the body found is possibly that of the inmate, added it is also routine for his Department to investigate persons missing from the institute and at present does not consider any foul play in the drowning.

The body was taken to a morgue in Cincinnati for an autopsy report.

Radcliff said that identification of the body will not be known or released until the autopsy is performed.
